TEACHING the COUNTRY CHILD to PLAY

Children from Several Ulster Co., N.Y., Schools Learning Folk Dances.

New Educational Movement from Which Great Results Are Expected

TEACHING the country child to play, an enterprise in altruism which has quietly but steadily grown in extent and utility during the last two years, is assuming proportions now so great that the spring and summer of 1909 promise a development strong enough to take root all through the states of the middle West and middle Atlantic districts.

It is a curious expedient; yet even less curious as an expedient than it is as a discovery.

For who, thus far, has so much as imagined that the average country child doesn't get pretty nearly all the play there is in the world?

The city man will aver, promptly, it is for just that, above everything else, that people want to live in the country. The farmer, though his boy be at that very moment doing chores which never end from dawn to dark, may declare that the country boy generally gets a good deal more play than is good for him.

Yet it is among those very farmers, and in sections where every man of them has sincerely believed his children were living in a paradise of rural pleasure, that the imperative necessity for systematic instruction in child's play is being most cordially, even anxiously, recognized.

So it looks as though this country, believed the world over to be the land where children rule their elders and range from play to mischief at their own sweet will, were just on the eve of awakening to the fact that it acts as slave-driver to its childhood and, with the awakening, were on the eve of organizing to emancipate them into their rightful inheritance of play.

Man made the city. God made the country, but the Devil made the little country village.—Anon.

IT HAPPENS that the authorship of that familiar epigram must remain anonymous. But it has been the text for many moralists and many educators, and has served as the text for a considerable portion of the discourse in which Professor Myron T. Scudder, head of the Rutgers Preparatory School in New Brunswick, N. J., outlined the imperative need and the vast possibilities of the country playground while he was principal of the State Normal School at New Platz, N. Y.

Professor Scudder was the first to give definite aim and scope to the movement for the country playground, and when he came to the stage where the aim must be unequivocally defined and the scope rationally broadened, he found it necessary to plan for two classes in one—the village boy, and the country child properly so-called.

"The case of the village boy," he remarked, in the course of his "Organized Play in the Country," which has now had a wide circulation, "may be said to be particularly bad; for, unlike the farm child, he usually has comparatively little work to do, and unless he has opportunities outside of school for athletics and play, he is likely to pass much of his time in idle idleness, or, since 'Satan finds mischief for idle hands to do,' in activities that are far from wholesome.

"Perhaps"—and here he quotes the popular dictum as to the satanic foundation of the little country village—"this has something to do with bringing about a situation characterized by the well-known epigram.

"The country child," explains Professor Scudder, "would undoubtedly play more if conditions were favorable. But, unfortunately, things are against him.

"In the first place, his parents are usually out of sympathy with play. This is particularly true of farm life. They do not see the use of it. There is no end of work to be done, and play is considered a waste of time except in the case of very young children.

"Their children do not need to run, jump, climb themselves, strike and throw. There are plenty of ways of developing muscle without feeling with such matters.

Such is the deplorable condition of the child in the country and the small village, as diagnosed by one of the most acute observers who, during recent years, has been in positions where, instead of imagining linealities, he could see with his own eyes toward what banal conditions rural tendencies conduce.

It was only a little more than three years ago that the birth of this remarkable movement occurred, and that in the small, trivial beginnings which, natural outgrowths of needs long endured in the silence of habit, so often result in a people by suddenly springing into national prominence.

The State Normal School of which Professor Scudder was in charge at New Platz, N. Y., is located in a village of about 500 people, in a prosperous farming section just west of the Hudson, and about as far north as Poughkeepsie. The faculty conceived the idea of holding Saturday conferences in the neighboring country schools; and teachers, parents and children, members of local granges, and others more or less concerned with the life of the countryside, were invited to attend.

All sorts of subjects were discussed and explained, from canker to tree grafting. In the course of the conferences, which were as much Saturday picnics as they were demonstrations, the topic of the natural play of which all the children seemed to be deprived, came up.

The organization of the Country School Athletic League of Ulster county, N. Y., followed almost immediately. It made its object that of fostering all forms of clean athletics among country school children. Not only must they be taught to play, but their teachers must be instructed in indoor as well as outdoor games suitable for children of various ages.

It was resolved to bring together the schools at least once a year, for a field day and a "play picnic." The athletic standards of the Public School Athletic League of New York city, were adopted, with the proviso that an appropriate button should be awarded every child who attained the standard. The country play movement was inaugurated.

Almost immediately there followed an amazing demonstration of the truly dire need for just such athletic exercise.

At one of the conferences, devoted to the topic of physical education, the Normal School's specialist in athletics suspended in a doorway a horizontal bar and put some of the farm boys to the chin-up exercise, in order to determine how closely they could conform to the standards required for boys of similar ages in the city of New York.

Not one of them could approximate the standards, and they were the boys whose parents held the theory that they became "strong" by work on the farm.

The movement, urged as it was by the teachers of the country schools and the more progressive people of the granges, nevertheless encountered many obstacles. The handicaps of tradition and the immemorial "help" of a family of growing children on the innumerable chores of farm and home, are not to be dispensed with very easily.

Many teachers, only too desirous of introducing a recognized form of instruction as well as play, found they might not essay the innovation without the permission of parents, and many parents, approached with the opportunity to make strong and healthy men and women of themselves, positively refused the permission.

But the need was too flagrantly apparent for the movement to fail, whatever the extent of the individual opposition that at first existed.

With the following June the bill was taken fairly by the horns, and a field day was held, which proved to be even more educational for the elders than it was for the children.

There were 1000 people assembled at New Platz 1000 people, half of them adults and the other half children, who realized before daylight what happiness, as well as health, could come out of meetings of this kind, fun and happiness for everybody.

More complete organization was the immediate result. A markedly improved attitude toward school play was assumed by many parents who were previously disapproving. School grounds were cleared up, barns and horse sheds near the schools and at home became the scene of athletic performances, while the farm crowbar or the hated rake handle served the uses of the horizontal bar.

Sometimes it cost school or parents a little cash; as often, it cost neither a cent.

secured a divorce, and the earl married a rich Mrs. Sommerville. Her fortune was gone, the first wife went on the stage and she sang comic songs. She was not a success.

But fate had still more bitterness in store. During the boating season in the spring of 1892 the countess spent some time at Maidenhead-on-the-Thames. There she met "Prince" de Modena. The "prince" was handsome and boasted of a royal fortune. He wooed her. Lady Russell. Then came a blow. She learned that he was not a prince; that she had married a coachman. Another divorce resulted.

New society is wondering whether and how long the married couple will be allowed to defy the spirit of mischance that seems to hover over Amberly court.

GRECIAN COIFFURE TO REPLACE RATS

NEW YORK—Puffs and curls and wadded and straight front, that is the coming gown. It is announced by Fifth avenue authorities, are to be driven out before the invasion of Greek fashions, and women will wear instead bands of jewels and velvet, circling the plainest of Grecian coiffures.

Rats have been given to understand that their end is at hand. "Rats will disappear before the fashion invaders like leaves before a November wind," said a well-known fashioner today. "The rat has had its day, that's all there is to it. Everything now is the Grecian coiffure. To show you what I mean, there are two pretty models, as exactly Greek as any the gods ever set to poetry."

The models smiled happily at this from one of their own sex.

"Well, if Fifth avenue cannot produce Grecian beauty, or something equal, if not superior, then it is not to be found anywhere at this day," remarked the fashioner. "The very newest style of hair-dressing is straight—no curls and waves, if you please—parted on the right side, brought low over the forehead. Then it is brought loosely up from the neck and coiled, so that it reaches even with the top of the head. Then you just use your own taste with the rest."

Black Velvet Band

"If you have a bit of black on your gown—a bit of black on hats and gowns—is to be fashionable—use a black velvet band for the finishing touch. Place the band just below the coil of hair at the back of the neck, and bring it up on top of the head with a bow knot or a jeweled buckle arranged just a bit to the side in front. By all means the ribbon must be the same shade as the gown. This is because the Greek beauties did not wear hats."

"We have jeweled barettes to be worn with the Grecian coiffure. There are fastened to the band and worn just as the barette is worn now. It keeps the coiffure in place."

"There is no doubt that this new hair-dressing will be a big success. It really suits ten years of a woman's age. It is simple, most becoming, and I am sure it is looked for a brilliant future."

Then she explained that this bold invasion was inspired by the spring hats. "To wear a Grecian coiffure," said she, "one of the new spring hats is necessary, to wear a new hat you must follow the Greeks, so there you are."

Not a Knot, But a Run

"I want to assure you that this new style is not called a knot or a puff or a twist. To be correct, it is a run. I do not know why it is called a run, but that is what they call it in Paris, where it is all the rage now."

Not satisfied with this victory, according to the latest fashion bulletin issued from Fifth avenue yesterday afternoon, the Greeks have captured the dress-making fold. Grecian gowns were out after a hard-fought battle with the Parisians.

"The long, crane-necked gowns," announced an authority, "are doomed from this very minute. No high collars, no bones smiting the flesh behind the ear to remind you of fashion's follies. Just simple comfort, like the Greeks knew in their low, shapely, well-cut gowns. High walsted and straight front, that is the coming gown."

According to reliable bulletins from authoritative sources in Fifth avenue, with the return from Europe yesterday of several well-known importers the Greeks were unable to take the millinery field because they did not have the goods.

The French seized the opportunity, and from latest reports are holding the millinery fort without any outside resistance.

New Hats Gay With Color

"The new hats," said a returning milliner from the other side, "are as gay with color as dear Paris. Pink roses, made from straw, made from ribbon and lace, bear the list of trimmings. One of our newest creations has twenty-two roses. The hats are bowl-shaped or mushroom-shaped."

"Some of them look like a decorated grandmother's sewing basket turned upside down. Owing to their peculiar shape, which is much larger than the ones worn this winter, a change in hair-dressing was immediately necessary. The hats are worn off the face and well down over the head."

"They completely cover the back of the head, reaching almost to the tip of the present style of coiffure. But by use smart and pretty, and are sure to be popular because they are so artistic."

GRANDCHILD OF NAPOLEON III IS NOTED ACTRESS

PARIS, Feb. 20.—A granddaughter of Napoleon is making a great sensation as an actress at the Casino at Nice. She is Madame Clotilde de Ravenel and is the daughter of the Count and Countess de Tucherel. Her father was the son of Miss Howard and the Emperor Napoleon III. The romance of Miss Howard and the man who made himself emperor began when he was known as Prince Louis Bonaparte and was looked up in a cell in the prison at Ham. It was Miss Howard who furnished $200,000 which permitted Prince Louis to escape from prison and become emperor of France.

CZAR'S FAMILY IS INTERESTING GROUP

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 20.—The latest photograph of the czar's children shows a most interesting group—one son and four daughters. The boy is the youngest, but chief of importance because he is heir to the throne. In the family he goes by the pet name of Alyosha. Though he will not be five years old until August, he already begins to feel the ality which both a had destined some day to rule more than 150,000,000 people spread over 8,000,000 square miles of Europe and Asia. His sisters, in order of age, are Grand Duchess Olga, thirteen years old; Grand Duchess Tatiana, nearly twelve; Grand Duchess Marie, approaching ten; and Grand Duchess Anastasia, not quite eight. The czar is very fond of his children and likes nothing better than a romp with them in the seclusion of their home.

OLD WILLIAM AND MARY COLLEGE HALL BURNS

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 20.—A fire broke out in the main building of St. John's this afternoon, and the interior of the building was destroyed. The blaze was confined to McDowell Hall. McDowell Hall was one of the oldest buildings in Annapolis, having been at one time the main building of Old William and Mary College. It was built in 1874.

BUSY HEN LAYS 130 EGGS IN 60 ODD DAYS

Mrs. Applegate's Modest Producer Doesn't Even Cackle Over Her Industry

If a hen and a half
Lay an egg and a half
In a day and a half
How many will a dozen lay?

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—With this arithmetical problem Mrs. George W. Applegate's hen concerns herself not at all. This industrious and remunerative hen simply goes on laying eggs. Since December 3 last this cornucopia hen has laid 130 eggs. Although she has beaten all records at laying eggs, she is modest and so far from boasting, omitted not even a cackle yesterday.

The hen got on the nerves of Mrs. Applegate, who lives on Beech street, Red bank, N. J. Mrs. Applegate was accustomed to find twelve eggs in the hen's nest last Thursday sundown. Mrs. Applegate gasping stared at the hen, the hen with a suspicion of a smile on her face looked at Mrs. Applegate as though saying, "I'm rather fruitful, eh?" Mrs. Applegate began to laugh and then, laughing and crying alternately, she got hysterical and her family called in the nurse, who calmed her with the bromides of sodium and potassium.

No nervous collapse threatened the hen. She reserved her mental peace and, attending to business strictly, laid seven more eggs during the next twenty-four hours. A continuous performance during all day Friday, twelve eggs were the outcome. Her fame spread and the correspondent at Red Bank went to Mrs. Applegate's house last night. He saw the hen, but did not get an interview with Mrs. Applegate, who is still suffering from nervousness. Mrs. Applegate, aged sixteen, her daughter, and she guessed the hen had "laid out" and had produced no eggs since Friday. The hen appeared to be in a good healthy condition, but there was a drooping air about her which seemed to indicate that she was disappointed at not being able to lay any more eggs.

This hen has no pride of ancestry. Mr. Applegate has bricks that is, he is a mason. He sent Mrs. Applegate to buy the hen from a neighbor when the hen was only a few months old. She is the only hen the Applegates own, consequently she does not get about with a lot of hens that would detract from her domestic duties and distract her from her intimate industry.

Tea Hour

Within the last few years New York has added a new hour to its day—the tea hour. Life has changed, and with it, the tubs, the telephone, and all other modern conveniences, now that we have it, we wonder how in the world we ever lived without it, says the Delicte. It is quite the pleasantest hour in the twenty-four, and certainly the most picturesque. Women wear their prettiest gowns if they are at home—their smartest hats and carriage wraps if they are abroad. So far as fashions go, New York is a city of one street. If you are feeling at odds with yourself, and your wardrobe you turn instinctively into the sidewalks and byways of the town. But if you possess a toilette of unapproachable character and antecedents, wild horses couldn't keep you from the great pleasure of America—Fifth avenue on a winter's afternoon.

And, after the drive or promenade, the tea hour generally without the tea, it must be confessed. For we have adopted the British national habit without the national drink. If you are inclined to be awfully English you take tea and muffins. But if you are willing to be frankly American you will indulge in ices and little cakes and other sweet things.

STILL MOURNING FOR THE LATE COQUELIN

Hermann Vezin, Great Tragedian, Has Just Celebrated His Diamond Jubilee

(BY L. DY. HENRY SOMERSET.)
LONDON, FEB. 20.—The sensation of the last week has been that strange collision of comedy and tragedy enacted by Miss Violet. The comedy, however, tragedy did not exist in the fact that any one for a moment believed that a girl so pure and good would be so deceived. She passed through the glass into a room where a hot-water bottle was a flood of water and was drawn when not in peril of clothing was found upon the floor. The tragedy was that she had nothing but a pocketbook and hat which had been conveniently thrown below on the stairs. Herein lay the comedy. The more she was badly treated, the more she was able to play the tragedy to deceive her creditors, but the drama lay in the story of the hunted girl, who, when she was driven from hotel to hotel, dogged by detectives, and in the fact that this girl who knew nothing of bills or stocks or money was able to do so well. The saddest stockbrokers and live the life of a practised gambler.

Ended Tamely

The whole story was ended in the fastest way. The heroine was confronted with the fact that she had been deceived. I suppose I am more drearily by her, by the arm of her creditors. The curious thing about this story is that the fact that a woman endeavored to deceive, as that the astute man were so much more than the woman. Worth has provided a nice day's wonder for the public and a good deal of money for the journalists.

It is hoped that the recitation of her doings will not incite others to the same despicable feat, but to my mind it is a pity that the fact is so common that people have only to commit crimes to be welcomed, and Miss Violet Charles is a woman who has been in the music halls at a salary of three hundred pounds a week in order to display to the public at large what a girl swindler looks like.

The deterioration of our public taste is a striking point of the whole story.

Mourning Coquelin

The French stage has not in years

Mourning Coquelin

The French stage has not in years witnessed a greater loss than that of Mourning Coquelin, for with him disappears one of the greatest actors of our time. Formerly known as "Le Grand Coquelin," he made his debut in the Theatre Francaise in the "Dopie Amoureuxes," and he had been engaged to appear in Ibsen's "Chanticleer" at the theatre.

Recently he laughingly declared that others made their final exit with the setting sun. "Mine," he said, "shall be without." He was born in 1860, and played Mourning Coquelin in Sardou's wonderful play "L'Affaire des Poisons," can ever forget his representation of Abbe Grifard. He was a fine actor, full of humanity, tragedy and comedy perfectly irrefutable. A kindness of manner, a breadth of understanding and a subtlety of facial and vocal expression were his trademarks.

His friendship for Henry Irving was the extraordinary triumph of admiration which each had for the other when they

Diamond Jubilee
Hermann Vezin, another great tragedian, has just celebrated his diamond jubilee. Vezin was born in Philadelphia and took his degree in Pennsylvania University.

Many years ago I knew Mr. Vezin well and the distinguished, clear cut features and intellectual head of the actor remained very vividly with me.

Mr. Vein has never for a moment relinquished the principles of the actor's great responsibility. He regards the fact of the absence of supreme tragedy at this time as more due to the absence of a great personality than any change in the public taste.

"As to plays," he remarked recently, "Shakespeare is still good enough to go on well. Many of the most finished actors and actresses of our time owe their successes largely to the mouldings which their talents received at the hands of Hermann Vestin."

At an Art Exhibition

CHARLES LEANOR

DEARLY, I have just known, to me the other day about the picture of Mr. Cushman, so that I must seize this opportunity to tell you that I, too, am being educated with the line of art. I went with Miss Lane to the pictures which were lovely, and we enjoyed it ever so much, but the costumes of the spectators were quite as artistic as the pictures.

I noticed the most wonderful change in the hats. Instead of being large and full, they were all of the toque variety—some of silk and some of beaver felt. An adorable one was worn by a girl who was gowned in black tulle and trimmed with a fox head in the center. As for the gowns, they were made without any corset, and it had a white elafon yoke trimmed with a little black lace. Across the front was a broad white band, and at the left side with a little white ruffle. The sleeves were long and tight—quite a la at the hand with white lace ruffles. A white ribbon which inched the lot, lent a finishing touch to the costume.

Another girl was gowned in a tobacco broadcloth, made on the empire plan, and appeared like a keystone. The neck was made of the most elegant tobacco liberty side with a huge volume she carried with the foundation.

Another girl wore a Napoleon gown. It had a hat worn in and out the lined in a plum color.

A tailor made a lovely dress, but few buttons. A little hand of a costume in cut burn lined men.

Taking the costume as a whole, there seems to be no doubt that the picture has come into its own. While it is during the hot months of summer, it is still the sun beats down upon our heads with its heat. Don't you agree with me?

With best love,

MADGE.

Upon a great big horse young Ted and Sue went out to ride. "Now what's A-U-T-O-M-O-B-I-L-E?" he cried.

Then: Slash! Bang! Down the road it came—a mile-a-minute clip! The horse is frightened very much; the children from him slip.

"Oh, now I know what that word spells! It's automobile. Look! But let me see the next word. Sue. Be quick! Hand me my book."

"What's D-O-C-T-O-R?" "I do not know," said Sue. "Why, that spells doctor, children dear. What can I do for you?"

Ted had a scratch upon his nose; one on the hand had Sue. The doctor bound them up, of course, then said, "I guess you'll do."

"Now I know that A-U-T-O-M-O-B-I-L-E is automobile—horrid thing! The other's doctor. See?"

Cut in Prices Results in Big Saving in the Cost of Construction.

STRUCTURAL MATERIAL

First Slash Is Made and the Figures Are Likely to Go Even Lower.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—The war among the steel corporations, announced in Eastern dispatches today, already has had a marked effect on prices in this city, and structural steel was cut $4 a ton in consequence. If further reductions are made it is believed there will be a great increase in building activity of this city.

Representatives of the various Eastern corporations have received nothing more than the bare announcement of the cut in prices, with instructions to watch things closely, and they are all waiting anxiously for advices which will give them some indication as to how far the slashing of prices is to extend.

One of the points about which the local representatives of the big corporations are in doubt is whether there is to be an absolute abandonment of all schedule prices and a hustle for business at any price that can be obtained.

Will Meet the Cut

On this point it was the expressed belief here that the United States Steel Corporation is going to meet the price of its competitors and that the forcing of the cutting will have to be done by the independents.

The steel trust which controls the output of a large number of corporations has representatives here in the agents of the Carnegie Steel Company which manufactures structural and merchant bars; the National Tube Company that manufactures pipe and all well casings; the American Bridge Company which manufactures fabricated material for steel buildings; the American Sheet and Tube Company which manufactures light iron sheets and tinplate; and the Lorain Steel Company which manufactures street railway supplies.

The three largest independent companies represented here are the Jones & Laughlin Company of Pittsburgh, the Lackawanna Steel Company and the Cambria Steel Company.

The reduction of building frames is conceded, will have the effect of bringing out contracts of those who have been waiting for a reduction in prices and will further stimulate citizens to make efforts to take advantage of the cuts.

What It Means
It is intimated that the saving alone on the Palace Hotel building would have been about $21,000. There are approximately 6000 tons of iron in the structure which at the reduction of $4 a ton would amount to that figure.

Merchants who have been endeavoring to get a differential tariff from the railroads on the manufactured product are also in hopes that the war may in some way aid them in their efforts.

Manufacture into shapes or not while there is a difference in the cost of the two of $15 a ton. It is urged that if the railway loses a car of the manufactured iron it has to pay the extra cost of manufacturing, and that there is a logical reason why there should be a difference in the freight rate of the two companies.

To Lower Steel Rails
NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Assurances that the price of steel rails will not be cut as a result of the price-slashing in finished steel products were given today by men in high authority in the steel manufacturing business. The report of a leading steel producer said that the United States Steel Corporation, the Cambria Steel Company, the Lackawanna Steel Company, the Bethlehem Steel Corporation and the Pennsylvania Steel Company are opposed to a reduction in the price of rails.

It was said by a steel official today that the present schedule of wages in the steel mills will not be changed until the new tariff rate on steel is known.

YOUNG MCCREERY GREW TOO FAMILIAR WITH TELEPHONE GIRL AND DETECTIVE...THAT'S ALL!

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—That things have come to a pretty pass in San Francisco, when the son of a millionaire gets his nose tweaked because he condescends to speak familiarly to a telephone girl, is the belief of Lawrence McCreery, son of Andrew McCreery.

"Larry" McCreery has been in a jovial mood for a week. The mood became more jovial since he began to "do" the Kirmess, and he has been running in and out of the St. Francis slapping his friends on their backs, and some backs which were not his friends', and getting well acquainted with the employees of the hotel. He thought that one of the telephone girls knew him well enough so that she would make an appointment with him. When he approached her she froze like a Boston feminine telele and said "Sir," with a rising inflection.

"Very well," said "Larry." "V-e-r-y well," and thought that was an end of it.

But it wasn't. She reported the matter to House Detective Hirschey, and the latter approached McCreery in the office and asked him to be more careful.

McCreery never did like detectives since he got beyond the "Old Cap Collier" age, so hit Hirschey over the head with his cane and Hirschey pulled his nose for him, and then showed him Union Square via personally conducted tour. That's all.

Marguerite Sinclair, Society Belle, Tells of Secret Wedding to Rich Sacramento Stockman

MRS. THORNTON GLIDE,
Who Was Miss Marguerite Sinclair, a Society Belle of Oakland.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 20.—After keeping their marriage a secret for over a year, Thornton Glide, a prominent cattleman of this city and son of the late millionaire stockman, Joseph Glide, and Miss Marguerite Sinclair, a society belle of Oakland, made known the fact of their marriage yesterday to their relatives and friends, and last night departed on the overland for the East, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Thornton Glide was thought to be a confirmed bachelor and his marriage comes as one of the biggest surprises the society folk of this city have known in years. His immense wealth has made him the target for rumors with marriageable daughters and much surprise was manifested in society circles today when the news of the marriage leaked out.

Visited Sister

Thornton Glide has been associated with his brother Henry in the conducting of their immense cattle business, and his wife who is a sister of Mrs. Henry Glide was a constant visitor at their home but no one suspected that the young folks were married. Mrs. Henry Glide is well known in Oakland where she is very prominent in society.

Both Henry and Thornton Glide came into prominence about two years ago.

Mrs. Horton Phipps - Withdraws from Dancers at Husband's Request

INVITED TO DINNER BUT THERE'S NO SEAT

Society Folk Shocked and Now It's the Topic of the Day

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—The quality of mercy is not strained. Shakespeare said so, and he ought to know. But what about the quality of hospitality?

That can be strained, it would seem. It was strained tonight quite to the breaking point; as a score of Kirmess dancers, a few patronesses of the Kirmess and at least one prominent society man of this city will remember for some time.

The Kirmess dancers who figured in this little episode are those particular society girls and boys who took part in the Portola dance; the patronesses are Mrs. C. O. Alexander and Mrs. Joseph L. King, and the society man is Horton Phipps, whose lovely young wife has been charming all the city with the two Spanish dances that were introduced especially for her, into two of the Kirmess numbers.

Invited to Jolly Dinner

The Portola dancers were naturally grateful to Mrs. Phipps for the distinction that her dancing lent to their number and a week ago they formally invited her to the jolly dinner at the St. Francis that was sandwiched in between today's matinee and the evening performance.

Mrs. Phipps accepted with much pleasure and persuaded her husband to decline a simultaneous invitation for Saturday night so that they might join the gay crowd of costumed girls and men who dined at the St. Francis.

The Phipps were a little late in reaching the hotel tonight and when the little dancer in her scarlet and gold came into the dining room with her husband several other tables already had groups of merry Kirmess folk and the Portola were taking their places at their own table.

No Place for Phipps.

Mrs. Phipps place was waiting for her and a warm welcome was waiting for her but what about Mr. Phipps?

There was no room for Mr. Phipps it seemed. Would he—Oh, in the nicest possible way, and in the friendliest tone, but none the less indelible—would he please dine somewhere else that particular night? He was told in Kirmess costume you know and this was a Kirmess dinner you know. And it was arranged you know.

One thing however was not prearranged. An unexpected color came into Mr. Phipps' face and something more brilliant than rouge deepened in his wife's cheeks.

Rush Into Breach.

These sympathetic little tarantella dancers in whose number Mrs. Phipps takes a part were hovering near, and they rushed into the breach with their usual joyous chatter and bore both the Phipps off to their own table, which was the center of the fun for the rest of the dinner hour.

But this was the reason that the charming dancer, after doing her part (Continued on Page 14.)

Problem of Farm Greater Than Tariff Question, Says J. J. Hill

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—"They talk about revising the tariff," said James J. Hill today. "Why, at the present rate of expenditures the tariff is now scarcely on a revenue basis then, it is to be scaled, unless we shave down the government."

"I am not a free trader," he went on, "but I see the evils in present tariff schedules although I do not know how they are to be remedied unless we shall call a halt upon the cost of government or shift the tax thus placed upon the people to domestic products. As to trusts, I guess Mr. Hawley was about right when he testified before a committee at Washington that the tariff was the mother of trusts."

"But these questions or problems will be solved. They are much more soluble than the one of supreme importance, which is how to extract from the soil the maximum of production at the minimum of cost. The trust problem will break down of its weight long before we live this latter problem. Upon its solution depends the answer to the question: 'What is the cause and what is the remedy of the present cost of living?'"

New England, he said looking up with a smile from pages of statistics. "Illustrates the condition we shall be in as a nation before the generation of young men just now taking hold of affairs turns the reins over to the next generation unless we bring about radical changes in our farming methods. When I asked an intelligent New Englander recently what New England now produced his answer was: 'College diplomas and edged tools.'"

But do you object to the college diploma? he was asked.

Not at all," he replied "unless it takes from the blacksmith shop or the plough good blacksmiths and farm ploughmen. It ought to fit each class better for the work to be done but I fear it is not doing that. New England is showing the effect of this in spite of the vast educational resources of that section."

HENRY SELIGMAN
FINANCIER
IS DEAD

Played a Big Part in Finances During the Civil War--Died in Germany

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Henry Seligman, international banker, at one time one of the best known financiers in the United States and a man who played an important part in finance during the civil war died today at Frankfurt-on-the-Maine, Germany.

Cable dispatches brought the news to the members of the firm of J. & W. Seligman in whose early history he was prominent.

Mrs. Seligman was born in the city in which he died. In the early fifties he came to America and opened a branch of his banking firm in San Francisco. Later he returned to his native city and there opened another branch. In 1861 he was elected to the office of mayor of New York.

He was a brother of Joseph Seligman. In the civil war it was his firm that took up some of the heaviest Government bonds. This brought to him a tribute from General Grant, who afterward said: "They benefited the Union by converting his bonds into gold."

Deny Miss Harriman Is
Robert Evelet's
Fiancee

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Authoritative denial was made today by the family of E. H. Harriman that there is any ground for the reported engagement of Robert Walton Goetz to Miss Mary Harriman.

Miss Harriman is at present with her father to Texas where he is taking an out-of-door vacation. Mr. Goetz is also of the party and from the circumstance arises the rumors of an engagement.

The report was published broadcast and Mr. Harriman has sent a general denial on behalf of his daughter.

YOUNG CHILD TRAPPED IN BURNING HOUSE
IS CREMATED IN PRESENCE OF PARENTS

VISALIA, Feb. 20.—Little Joe Inacio, 8-year-old son of Joe Inacio Sr., was burned to death in a fire which destroyed their house four miles southwest of Visalia at 6 o'clock this morning. The father was milking his cows and the mother was getting breakfast in a kitchen a short distance from the main building, when the fire was discovered. Three of four children escaped in their night clothes, but the youngest was trapped. His cries, loud at first, became fainter until they were hushed in the fire and smoke. The father made frantic efforts to rescue the child and was seriously burned himself.

ATTACKS HIS

JAIL

Beaten Senseless by Marshal When He Rushes on Constable

CAUGHT SLINKING IN SHADOWS OF TREES

Tries to Stab Captor With Sharp Knife, But Is Overcome in Struggle

C. K. STROWBRIDGE, the fourth member of the daring jailbreakers who cut their way to liberty Wednesday morning from the Oakland city jail, was captured last evening on the County Road at Hayward by Town Marshal Manuel Vierra.

Strowbridge's capture was not effected without a struggle in which he attempted to murder the marshal with a short sharp bladed knife, one lately sharpened and carried, the police believe, by the fugitive for just such a purpose.

Slinking in Shadows

The escaped prisoner was slouching along the county road, keeping to a side as though attempting to hide in the shadow of the trees which lined the roadway. It was this action on the part of Strowbridge which first attracted the attention of the marshal. The latter was making his rounds of the stores, and had reached Estrella Avenue, when he saw Strowbridge in the shade of the trees. He walked toward the man but Strowbridge immediately walked off in an opposite direction.

"Halt!" shouted the officer, but Strowbridge only increased his gait, and when Vierra started on the run after his man, the former jumped over the fence running parallel with the roadway and for a short time, was lost to his pursuer.

The noise he made tramping through the bushes put Vierra on his track again, and realizing this, Strow-

Catch Swindler
Who Worked
Florists

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—Lewis Larson, who is accused of having passed spurious checks on fifteen florists during the last three days, was arrested in the store of the Wickson Floral Company, 811 Van Ness avenue yesterday by Police man A. B. Thompson. Larson had just bought a floral place for $5. In payment he had tendered a check.

Fifteen florists have complained that they have been defrauded by a man who, after purchasing a floral piece, had tendered a worthless check. In each case the man bought $5 worth of flowers. He always tendered a check for $16.50, apparently drawn and indorsed by a prominent business man.

Among those who accepted the worthless checks and gave $15 in change, together with the flowers, are Pelecona & Dovel, 1245 Sutter; G. B. Ahtola, 2001 Sutter, and Pedestal & Baldock, 1206 Sutter.

Not one - not two - nor three - but TWELVE PIANOS FREE

Eilers Music Company, newly appointed distributors for the Celebrated Chickering and Sohmer Pianos, will give twelve beautiful Upright Pianos and other valuable prizes free to advertise their appointment.

THE CHICKERING AND THE SOHMER; THE WORLD'S BEST PIANOS, ARE SOLD ONLY BY EILERS MUSIC COMPANY.

To the twelve persons writing correctly the sentence within the border at the head of this announcement the greatest number of times on a standard post card (5 1/2 in. by 3 1/4 in.) we will give absolutely free twelve beautiful new upright Boudoir Pianos. Other valuable prizes will be given to every reply of merit.

These are pianos noted for their fine tone quality and any one of them would grace the best home in California.

Our purpose in making this unprecedented offer is to impress upon every man, woman and child on the Coast the fact that we now sell the celebrated Chickering and Sohmer pianos.

These two famous names are already known to every person familiar with good pianos. For 86 years the Chickering—the oldest piano in America—has been the recognized leader among leaders. The Sohmer has won in no less degree the highest favor among musicians.

The Chickering and the Sohmer need no further advertising. Their qualities are known to everyone. They are as staple as the white diamond.

But the purpose of this advertising undertaking is to make everyone familiar with the fact that the agencies for these celebrated pianos have, within the past six months, been given to the Eilers music stores, and that the Eilers stores alone now sell the Chickering and the Sohmer.

We believe this advertising campaign will fix in the minds of everyone, as nothing else can, the fact that Eilers Music Company are the sole distributors for the Chickering and Sohmer.

Note carefully the following rules: Write on one side only of the post card. Use pen and ink only. Write your name and address plainly and the number of times you have written the sentence on the card across one end of the stamped or "address" side of the card. Punctuation, spelling, correctness and legibility will be factors in determining the winners. Words cannot be written across each other. Expert penmen, engravers, draftsmen and all employees of Eilers Music Company and their families, are barred. The decision of the judges, selected from the San Francisco newspapers, is to be final.

Any further information desired will be gladly furnished. Address all inquiries and solutions to Manager Advertising Department. Replies must be received at one of our stores not later than 11 p. m. March 6, 1909.

TANGLED SOLONS LOSE A FRIDAY

By Jumbling House Journal, Congressmen Drag Monday From Its Fastening

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The question of whether yesterday was Friday or Monday caused a parliamentary tangle in the House of Representatives and incidentally no little amusement. Under the ordinary procedure the day was set apart for the consideration of bills on the private calendar, but because of the House having recessed each day since Monday, under the rules it was still the legislative day of that date.

Sims of Tennessee maintained that it was Friday, while the Speaker insisted, amid laughter, it was Monday.

"It is true," said the Speaker, "this is Friday in the calendar made by the sun, but by the journal of the House it is Monday."

The Tennessee member pleaded for recognition of private bills, the journal notwithstanding.

Turn the Clock Back

"If we should adjourn now," inquired Garrett of Tennessee, "would tomorrow be Saturday or Tuesday?"

The Speaker replied that tomorrow would be not only the calendar but the legislative day of Saturday.

"And Friday would be gone?" interjected Sims.

"It would," solemnly responded the Speaker.

Before the question could be put, Major of Arkansas suggested that the clock be turned back, saying he had several times seen the House do that.

A year of laughter went up when Speaker Cannon, spending slowly, said: "The sun was stopped at one time by the Lord on Joshua's request." But he insisted, amid more laughter, that he had never seen "the House turn the clock back."

CHIEF WILSON SAYS IT IS IMPRACTICABLE TO SEND DETECTIVES TO SOCIAL FUNCTIONS ATTIRE IN DRESS SUITS

RABBI GENNS EXPLAINS CITIZENSHIP DENIAL

SEATTLE, Feb. 20.—"I regret that I was obliged to conceal the fact of my acceptance of citizenship in America," said Rabbi H. Genns of Seattle, who has just returned from Russia. "To have done otherwise would have been suicidal. I do not know what would have happened under the circumstances. It is an astonishing fact that a Jew born in Russia cannot accept citizenship in any other land and, if he does so, he cannot, when he returns to his native land, appeal to that citizenship for protection against persecution."

SOCIETY SLEUTHS ARE HAS WIZZERS

Commissioners Rule That City Detectives May No Longer Wear "Clawhammers"

OAKLAND'S smart set will hereafter have to get along without official functions and links, for the Board of Police and Police Commissioners have solemnly ordained that no detective from the regular force shall be detailed to any function where he is compelled to wear a dress suit and mingle with the guests as one of them.

It so happens that in Oakland there have been a number of marriages where the wedding gifts were valuable and tempting. At numerous of these functions there have been snatched thieves present in dress suits and it was thought that if a detective were sent there in a dress suit he might be able to capture the clever operators.

But now the police commissioners have tabooed this and if any detective is present he will be there as a plain clothes man and will not have to adorn himself in a clawhammer.

Chief Wilson Perplexed

Chief of Police Wilson was greatly perplexed when the problem presented itself to him. He is a stickler for police discipline but when it came to what a detective should do should not wear at the functions of the local 400 his courage failed and he was unable to come to a decision. Mayor Mott, City Attorney McElroy and City Engineer Turner were, however, usual to the occasion and promptly ruled that dress suits and detectives did not go together, and that if there were any unknown "Raffles" attending weddings the hosts would have to provide a private detective and pay him accordingly.

"Never Again," Says Chief

Chief Wilson said: "Never before have I been called on to decide so delicate a question of discipline. We will supply people with police men and detectives for street work and for patrol duty in front of churches when weddings take place, but we cannot supply any detectives in ballroom attire to go to social functions. There have been a number of robberies of the 'Raffles' order, but this department cannot send a man dressed in evening attire to attend these functions. The persons requiring such service will have to rely on private detective bureaus."

MINING CONDITIONS CHAOTIC AT PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 20.—James Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, returned today from an investigation of the Pittsburgh disaster. He said conditions were chaotic there, owing to factional disputes and, unless matters were straightened out soon, he would direct the national board to take charge.

'BE ECONOMICAL,' WARNS GOVERNOR

Gillett States Bills Asking for Unnecessary Increase in Salaries Will Not Be Signed

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 20.—Governor Gillett has called a halt of the great army of State officials and employees who are besieging the Legislature for increases in salary and additional help. It is stated upon good authority that he has warned the ways and means and finance committees of the Assembly and Senate, respectively, that he will not sign bills providing for unnecessary increases.

In accordance with the Governor's wishes, the committee will begin weeding out bills, and many employees of the State will be disappointed in their expectations for more money from the public treasury at this session.

An aggregate increase of $107,540 a year has been asked for, according to calculations made by Clyde Seeley of the State Board of Examiners. The proposed raises range from $100 to $2,000 a year.

Almost every person on the State's payroll wants more money. State Printer Shannon, State Librarian James L. Gillis, and F. L. Caughy, clerk of the Supreme Court, petition for a raise of $2,000 a year each. They receive at present $3,000 per annum.

In the Governor's office Private Secretary E. C. Cooper wants $5,000 instead of $4,000; Executive Secretary E. P. Mitchell asks $2,500, an increase of $400; the Governor's stenographer, Miss Nora Andrews, asks for a raise of $400, and Jake Soars, the negro messenger of the office, requests a $200 increase.

An additional stenographer is wanted by the Governor at a salary of $1,200.

A bill by Harry Barnard of Long Beach for ending education not was defeated. The amendment provided that vaccination of school children should not be insisted upon unless a case of smallpox or variola has actually developed in the district.

The Assembly adjourned until Monday, at 11 o'clock.

Charles A. Nelson of San Francisco, who introduced the Islus creek bill in the lower house, announced that the Southern Pacific had placed a special car at the disposal of the members of the Assembly and their friends to carry them to the metropolis, where Islus creek proposed inland harbor site will be inspected tomorrow.

THOUSANDS WILL MARCH FOR TAFT

Inaugural Parade Promises to Be a Most Imposing Military Pageant

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—More than 31,000 men will march in the parade March 4, according to official reports made to the inauguration committee meeting last night. There will be approximately 22,000 soldiers, sailors and marines of the regular service and national guardsmen and independent military bodies, including those of West Point and Annapolis.

Up to date forty-five organizations of white and nine of colored men have applied for positions in line, as well as one body of Indians. These, with their musicians, will number about 9,000.

CAPTAIN OF SIBERIA TO RESUME COMMAND

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—Captain Adrian Zeeder, commander of the Pacific Mail liner Siberia, is on the way home from England and South Africa, and will be here to relieve Captain Dixon of command of the steamer upon her arrival from the Orient the middle of next month. Since leaving here some months ago, Captain Zeeder has not only made lengthy visits to scenes of his childhood in and about London, but has spent some time with his brother, who is prominent in the transportation business at San Francisco. At that place Captain Zeeder was so unfortunate as to be taken ill, and he was in a hospital many days.

WIFE GOT HIS $5; HE ASKS DIVORCE

Foolish Passera Was Obdurate and Woman, Aided by Mother, Fell on Him

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—B. Passera had $5. His wife wanted it, but foolish Passera was obdurate. Mrs. Passera, aided by her mother, fell upon her husband and together they relieved him of the money. The whole story is told in a suit for divorce brought by Passera yesterday.

Mrs. Passera, according to her husband, first asked him for the money. He knew she did not need it, his wife, and therefore firmly refused to hand it over. In the twinkling of an eye Mrs. Passera and her mother, according to the complaint, jerked the unlucky husband about the room, hit him over the head with a hatchet, and finally got the money.

Passera says also his wife once threw a glass at him and his mother then attempted to stab him with a screw driver.

He's a Cousin of Mine

"He's a cousin of mine," said Mrs. Anna Biggs to her husband, Charles Biggs, on her return from a trip to Scotland, introducing Evan McLennan, who had returned from Scotland with her.

McLennan took up his residence with the Biggs and stayed with them over a year. Finally Biggs ordered him out. Biggs tells about his trouble in a suit for divorce filed yesterday.

He says there was too much genuine affection shown for the "cousin." He asks the custody of his child and the possession of all the community property.

"No matter what charges are made against a woman they will never induce me to prevent her from seeing her child," said Judge Graham yesterday, upon the application of Mrs. Beale Kirkwood, who Thursday told the judge that "he would get his before the day was over."

Judge Forgives Threats

Alexander Kirkwood, captain of a burg of the Standard Oil Company, obtained a divorce from Mrs. Kirkwood recently. At the hearing he told the court another man had supplanted him in his wife's affections. He obtained the custody of his minor child, which he has put in a boarding house. His wife wanted to see the child, but he refused to let her. He threw a glass at him and at another the influence of liquor. On the refusal of the judge to permit her to see the child she threatened to kill him and narrowly escaped being sent to jail for contempt.

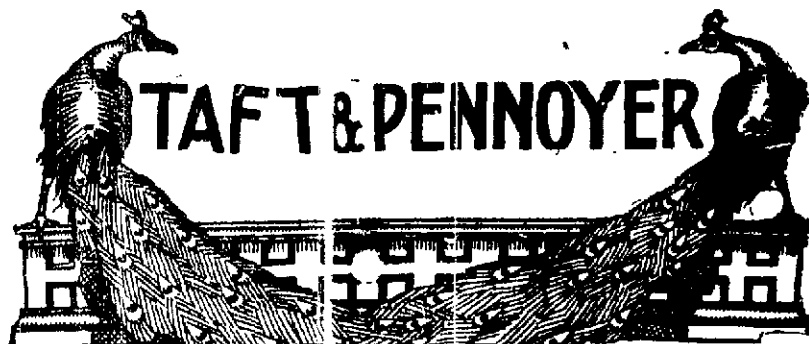

Judge Graham gave her an order yesterday permitting her to visit the child when she desired.

NEW LIFE FOR OLD BANK BILL

After Long Slumber Postal Savings Bank Measure May Pass Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The postal savings bank bill, after having been opposed for many years, although it has been the unfinished business of the Senate, may yet be passed at the present session.

The unexpected progress which was made with the appropriation bills yesterday, it is said, will give Senator Carter an opportunity to press the postal savings bank measure, and it is said with a number of amendments it can be put in shape. In the short time that remains of the present session it is not thought possible to get the bill through the House, but it is argued that passage by the Senate would be an important step toward redeeming the promise by the Republican National Committee to enact the legislation.

CHINESE BOYCOTT HURTSTENYO MARU

Japanese Liner Will Take Big Cargo to Orient, But Not What It Would Be

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—Although greatly affected by the widespread boycott of the Chinese, the Japanese steamer Tenyo Maru is doing a better business than on the two previous voyages. She will carry a good-sized cargo for the Orient upon leaving here next Friday, but the proportion of Chinese freight is not remarkable for its extent. Under conditions as they formerly existed, before the Tenyo Maru boycott was begun, the Japanese liners would be doing a very large business, but even under this handicap it is picking up.

More than one hundred saloon passengers are booked to sail Friday in the Tenyo Maru. One of them is A. V. Pontius, United States vice-consul at Swatow, China.

Captain Philip H. Going, the first commander of the Tenyo Maru, is reported to have entirely recovered from a serious illness with which he had been afflicted for years. He is at his home in Japan, on the reserve list of the Tenyo Kisen Kaisha.

Korea Due Friday

A cablegram from Honolulu reported the departure of the Pacific Mail steamer Korea from that port at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The liner, always prompt, is therefore expected to arrive here early next Friday morning. Many passengers are on board, including a large number from Honolulu, and the cargo of oriental merchandise amounts to several thousand tons. Unless reported by wireless from some of the steamers now on the route to the islands, the Korea will probably not be heard from again until she looms up on the horizon next Friday morning. She has no wireless apparatus.

SAILOR IS DROWNED WHILE MAKING LEAP

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—While attempting to leap aboard the steam schooner Kema as it was leaving Meigs wharf at the foot of Mission street early this afternoon, William Lehart, a member of the crew, fell into the bay and was drowned. While he was at the surface of the water, Second Mate Nelson climbed down the side of the steamer and endeavored to save him, but could not reach the unfortunate man. Efforts to recover the body during the afternoon were unsuccessful.

STEAMER ENTERPRISE REPORTS CLEAR WEATHER

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—A wireless dispatch from the Enterprise reported by the operator at 8:30 o'clock Friday evening, reported the vessel, as 307 miles off the coast on the way to Hilo, from this city. The weather was clear, with a westerly breeze and long westerly swell prevailing.

DOES THIS INTEREST YOU?

If you are in need of treatment, come and see the doctors who cure. If you suffer from catarrh, asthma, lung trouble, or any chronic, nervous or lingering illness, you can be cured now if your disease is curable. Fer-Don's European Experts and Bloodless Surgeons are the only doctors on the Pacific Coast who publish truthful testimonials from cured patients. Read what the people who have tried this treatment say. People who know. They will gladly verify any statements we make.

You believe in ocular evidence, don't you? If you saw a thing with your own eyes it would be pretty conclusive evidence, wouldn't it? We don't want you to believe a word we say until you satisfy yourself to your own satisfaction that the claims we make through the columns of the daily press are bona fide and genuine. You were perhaps one of the few who when Fer-Don's came to Oakland made the assertion that he was a passing fad, that he wouldn't last long, but he would gather together what money he was fortunate enough to pick up and jump the next train out of town.

Well, now, that is six months ago and Fer-Don and his staff of Bloodless Surgeons and European Experts are still doing business at their offices, 1089 Broadway, the city.

The city, the county, the State, the entire Pacific Coast has been stirred up as never before. The almost miraculous cures that these eminent men have effected have been heard of in all the West. People in Washington, Idaho, Nevada, Arizona, and Utah are writing to the Great Fer-Don in reference to their condition and asking him if they can be cured.

No man has so stirred up the people as Fer-Don and the cause is self-evident. It is the fact that your neighbors, perhaps a father, mother or other relative has been permanently benefited by these wonderful experts. The list of those cured grows longer each day, and every one gladly expresses their joy and appreciation at the manner in which their case was handled and with the quickness and dispatch with which they were treated.

COMES FROM NAPA.

Greenfield Risk, who resides at 128 Gladstone avenue, Napa, Cal., was on a visit to her children living in this city. One of her children, a young girl, is such an extent that she could not walk, and had to be moved from place to place in a chair. She had heard of the Great Fer-Don and was brought to his offices at 1089 Broadway in a wheel chair.

WALKS ONCE MORE.

The Bloodless Surgeons examined her carefully, and began treatment. After only one session, she experienced immense relief and now is fully restored to health—rheumatism gone and she is able to walk about as well as any one.

CURED OF GOTTRIE.

Mrs. M. A. Newberry of 1805 Turk street, San Francisco, was relieved of gottrie by Fer-Don's Bloodless Surgeons without causing a bit of pain without the use of a knife or without the sight of a drop of blood.

A CHILD CURED.

There's the story of little Minnie Drimmond, who lives at 771 Twenty-second street. This little girl was suffering from an internal growth which was fast effecting her eyesight to the extent that glasses seemed necessary. My little daughter is about well.

CHICAGO MOVES FOR PURE MILK

Reports Show That Heat Renders Bacillus and Micro-Organism Harmless

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Health Commissioner Hanna will cite reports of the Federal experts for the new milk ordinance when the council committee on health resumes its consideration of the report of the Pasturization Bureau.

One bulletin of the report says: "It may be confidently stated that the tubercle bacillus is well as the specific micro-organism causing typhoid fever, all rendered harmless by heating to 110 degrees Fahrenheit for twenty minutes. It is fortunate that the thermal death points of bacteria are below those of the fat in milk, for in this way all infections may be destroyed without devastating the milk and without injuriously affecting its composition or quality and without sensibly hurting its food value."

BURGLAR SCARE

Electric bell wouldn't ring, wife thought it was a burglar. Century Electric and Picture Co. is now making repairs.

MOTHERS' CLUBS PLAN FESTIVITIES

Washington Grammar School Pupils Will Hold All Day Fete

The Mothers' Club of the Washington grammar school is planning in all-day fete for Washington's birthday. The festivities will be held in the school grounds surrounding the school, and the women of the club, and in dignity Colonial costumes, will dispense a tea cherry pie and rhubarb and lettuce to the children throughout the day.

Mayor May Soeak

Though no definite program has yet been mapped out, it is probable that Mayor May will address the children on that day.

The Mothers' Club was organized last fall, and already has accomplished a great deal toward the improvement of the school grounds. The purpose of the fete is to secure funds for a more modern equipment of the Washington school grounds.

Students are being erected which will be presided over by the members. In party Colonial costumes, and a cherry pie booth is to be a feature of the day.

Celebrate at Melrose

Students of the John C. Fremont high school, of Melrose, are celebrating the Washington birthday spirit by making a patriotic American flag which will be given a prominent place in the school assembly room. The flag will be celebrated in San Francisco March 7.

A representative of the school is to be present at the three-day celebration, which is to be conducted under the auspices of the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West. Grand President C. M. Johnson is to be in charge of the celebration.

At sunrise the school's flag is to be run up and a national salute fired by a detachment of the State militia.

Roll of Honor

The roll of honor at the Emeryville school for the period ending February 15 is announced as follows:

First Grade—Porter Stanley, Esther Flax, Ruth Stiles.

Second Grade—Gertrude Cahill, Tina Bianchini, Mary D. Wagon, Florence Alexander, Dorothy Miller, Paul Krushnick, George Battaglini.

Third Grade—Hilda Macdonald, Earl Phillips, Len Anderson.

Fourth Grade—Lela Bush, Homer Hohen, Philip Little, Violet Nielsen, Bernice Stewart.

Fifth Grade—Ollie Backersby.

Sixth Grade—Maude Nickerson.

Seventh Grade—Charles Wagoner, Lena Ratz, Jeanette Miller, Marie Ratz, Lena Leno, Bert Follett, Marie Lott, Josephine Maters.

Eighth Grade—Ruth Davis.

The Porter school football team went down to defeat before the Longfellow eleven yesterday afternoon in a contest played at Lincoln Avenue and Oak streets.

At Berkeley High

The Berkeley high school senior play has been abolished by the school board. The school has been in danger for a number of years and is generally thought to be the preparation for the play interferes with the work of the students who are preparing at the same time for graduation.

SHIPPING BREVITIES GATHERED AT ANCHOR

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—At 11 o'clock tomorrow morning the liner Rosa City, Captain Johnston, will sail for Astoria and Portland, a day late on account of having been in drydock.

The Genie steamer, Alameda, with more than a limited saloon passengers, sailed today for Honolulu.

From Puget Sound points the steamer Santa Rosa, Captain Kelly, will be due in San Francisco tomorrow morning.

VESSEL LOSES RIGGING WHILE PLUNGING IN SEA

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—Thirty were striking for the steamer Pullon while she lay at McDiocline Friday and Captain Maloney was forced to put to sea. The steamer arrived here this morning. While loading lumber at the northern port the rough sea caused the Pullon to plunge with such violence that the stowage fore deck was carried away. At the same time all the masting lines were carried away, and the deckload of 50,000 feet of lumber was lost overboard.

JUSTICE SCORES HOME GRAFTERS

Appellate Jurist Says Building Loan Societies Are Poor Man's Enemies

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 20.—That a poor man has little salvation in securing a home free from debt at the hands of building and loan associations is the opinion of the Appellate Court in a decision handed down today granting a new trial to the defendant in the case of the Building and Loan Association of San Francisco, which lost an action brought against it in the Fresno County Superior Court by Simon W. Henry to recover title to his home, which he had mortgaged for $1100.

After making a declaration that there was not evidence in the case to justify the allegation of fraud Appellate Justice Hart stated:

"On the face of the transactions concerned in this litigation it may appear that the plaintiff exercised very poor judgment in adopting a building and loan association as the instrumentality through which to secure for himself a home."

VESSEL'S EXPERIENCE ROUGH TIMES ON BAR

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—About noon today the harbor was again breathing calm, although it had been far from smooth for several days and yesterday morning it was rough for the South was just ahead of the worst breakers on the bar. The pilot boat Lady Minto got the full benefit of them during the afternoon when she sailed out to her station, but was not damaged.

If It Disappears, It's Eczema

How to Tell Whether Skin Affection Is an Inherited Blood Disease or Not. Sometimes it is hard to determine whether a skin affection is a sign of an inherited blood disease or a local eruption. Even physicians are often puzzled in their diagnosis. The best way for you to find out is to go to The Owl Drug Co. or any good druggist who handles pure drugs and obtain 2 cents worth of Posol. Apply this and in the following days at once and the trouble is cured in a few days. It may be set down as a proven remedy, as this is the way Posol acts in the worst cases of eczema. In eczema, herpes, skin eruptions, piles, salt rheum, rash, hives, and other forms of skin disease, Posol not only cures but removes the cause, and all sufferers will write to the Posol Laboratories, No. 22 West Twenty-fifth street, New York, and receive by mail free of charge, a supply sufficient to cure a small case in six days or clear a complexion over night and remove pimples in twenty-four hours.

DYNAMITE ENDS LIFE OF A MINER

Accidentally Explodes and Blows Away Front Portion of Man's Body

FRESNO, Feb. 20.—Steve Frazee, a miner, was instantly killed last night about 9 o'clock in the Copper King mine, in the mountains to the east of Fresno, by the accidental explosion of a stick of dynamite.

Frazee was fixing three sticks of dynamite for blasting when, in some manner, one of the sticks exploded. He was hurled many feet, and when picked up the front portion of his body was found to have been blown away.

Frazee had a young wife living at Cores, in this county.

SACRED CONCERT TO BE FEATURE

Moving Passion Pictures Will Be Produced in West End Tonight

The choir of St. Patrick's church will render a concert of sacred music tonight in the West End Auditorium. Tenth and Bertha streets. The musical numbers will be given during the passion play, which will be explained in a sermon by Rev. Father McNally.

The parishioners have expressed much interest in the moving pictures, which will depict the life and sufferings of Christ. It is the first time the pictures have been produced here are the members of St. Patrick's church.

The passion play is famous for its historical background. Throughout Europe and America it has been produced with great success.

LINCOLN DESIGN ON CENT PIECES

Head of Martyred President to Adorn New Issue of Philadelphia Coppers

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20.—The United States Mint in this city will in a few days destroy the dies from which the present one-cent pieces are made, and will sink the new dies with the bronze metal design of Abraham Lincoln, as ordered by the Treasury Department several days ago.

The familiar Indian head on the penny was made many years ago from a profile of Marie Cunningham, a Irish Philadelphia girl, whose father was an employee of the Mint.

Do You Want Good Looks?

Some people don't care about their looks, but they are in the minority. The majority do.

Which are the most attractive features?

Eyes and teeth.

Some would put teeth first.

But no matter how attractive the eyes, poor teeth or a set of "false" teeth will spoil the whole face. You will grant that.

We want to know if you want good teeth, as perfect as the handsomest set you ever saw in any mouth.

There is just one answer to that question:

"I do!"

Will you follow instructions in order to get these good teeth?

You are not going to be asked to do the impossible thing, or to suffer the tortures of an operation, or submit to some absurd procedure. Ours is a reasonable proposition.

First you must come to one of our offices, and allow us to go carefully over your teeth, to make an intelligent diagnosis.

No charge, no obligation, no discomfort.

We must be the judges as to what can be done for you, for there are some cases that we won't attempt.

But if you have two or more teeth in either jaw, we can, in all probability, restore all you have lost, by means of the wonderful Alveolar Method of supplying missing teeth without the use of plates.

These teeth will look like teeth and not like teeth when in your mouth, and be as firm and serviceable, in almost all respects, as nature's teeth.

Nothing that resembles the ordinary set of "false" teeth about the Alveolar teeth. Otherwise we wouldn't waste time talking about them.

We propose to give you something that would puzzle an expert to tell from nature's.

And all we ask is a few minutes of your time.

It isn't much to ask.

How can we prove that we can do these things?

There are ten thousand or more people in this country who will vouch for our ability to do what we claim. Can't quote all of them, but have been taken at random from a mass of just such letters of appreciation:

San Francisco, Dec. 4, 1908.

Gentlemen—It is a pleasure for me to write you concerning the work you did for me several months ago; it is the best work as far as I have had done. I will cheerfully recommend your treatment to anyone wanting dental work done.

Very truly yours,

D. J. TUNTON.

534 Shrader st.

Will you investigate us by a personal visit?

Dentistry is not a "Mail Order" proposition. You must come in person, and we will then satisfy you beyond all question of a doubt that we can do exactly what we claim.

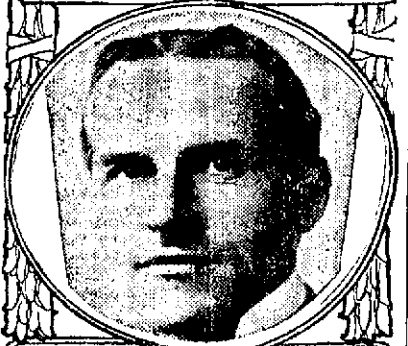

Good teeth, good looks and good health follow each other in regular order.

We will gladly send you our handsome books, "Alveolar Dentistry," which go into detail, if you are too far away to call.

It is free. Write for a copy. Don't put it off. Do it now.

ENGINEERS MAKE MERRY AT BALL

Third Annual Dance Is Held by Lodge E. C. Fellows

The third annual ball of E. C. Fellows, Lodge No. 142, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, held Friday evening at Rice Institute Hall, was a marked success, about 500 present, among whom were Mayor Frank K. Mott and other prominent city officials.

The hall was most appropriately decorated with greenery and flowers and various colored locomotive headlight. A novel feature of the evening was the headlight waltz, during which all lights but the headlight were extinguished. This innovation proved a most popular one, and brought forth much applause from the dancers.

A special train was run at 3 o'clock this morning to accommodate the guests remaining after the dance stopped.

The committees in charge of the ball were:

Door manager, A. H. Lightner; assistant door managers, F. C. Adams, J. C. Anton, H. E. Riley, H. E. Schroeder, K. McPherson.

Floor Committee—F. E. Costello, D. Blankenship, W. C. Wilson, V. P. Busch, F. B. Smith, T. G. Rosa, F. L. Ryan, E. J. Hafferty, F. Ward, C. Terlow, R. P. Cornell, J. P. Fitzpatrick.

DISAGREE ON MANY POINTS

American Fishermen and Canadians at Loggerheads Over Treaty.

OTTAWA, Feb. 20.—The treaty defining the rights of American fishermen to fish in Canadian and Newfoundland waters which now goes to the House for adjudication on disputed points, has been made public.

In the negotiations the Americans sought to have the word "rights" used, but under Canadian pressure the word "liberties" was substituted.

The British case holds that Americans are subject to certain local restrictions in exercising their "liberties." The main contention, as against this, maintains that any restriction must be concurred in by the United States. Canada also contends that the three-mile limit does not enter bays of less than six miles in width. The Americans claim it follows the shore line.

A supplementary between Ambassador Bryce and Secretary Root provides that the agreement of 1846 for the use of Canso Strait and the bay of Fundy shall be continued without prejudice to Canadian claims for exclusive discrimination in these waters.

FIRE ENDANGERS LIVES OF MANY

Early Morning Blaze in Lovelock, Nev., Starts Panic in Hotel; $80,000 Damages.

LOVELOCK, Nev., Feb. 20.—Property valued at $80,000 was destroyed and the lives of thirty people endangered by a fire that raged in the business portion of Lovelock at 3 o'clock this morning. The blaze, due to an exploding gasoline light, broke out in the Stragg Inn, a saloon, and quickly spread to the Franklin Hotel filled with sleeping people. Half a block of business houses was destroyed before the volunteer fire department got the fire under control. Many persons, believing that the fire would spread to the residence district, moved their household goods into the street and stood guard over them the remainder of the night. A man who tried to loot a burning jewelry store was kicked in the face by a fireman, rendered unconscious and removed to a hospital, where he is in a serious condition.

H. G. Bedwell's Good Old Iron Horse, Fulletta, Wins His Race Pulled up to a Walk

By LEE DEMIER

President Tom Williams' four-year-old chestnut horse, Fulletta, by H. G. Bedwell, exhibited some of his old-time form yesterday afternoon when, with Offert and a package of lead aggregating a total weight of 115 pounds on his back, he simply breezed home a winner in the Lawrence Handicap over a mile and seventy yards of ground. He was eight lengths in front of Nader at the finish. Bedwell's clever pacer having run a good race to be second from Rose Queen, which set all the pace into the stretch.

Although the day was a wet and dreary one, there was a large crowd present outside of the regulars. Speculation was brisk during the afternoon and the gallopers ran right to form despite the rather treacherous condition of the going. Four horses which either opened or closed as favorites finished in front, while the other events were taken by second choices. The pickers who try to knock down the favorites had a most disastrous day.

Trois Temp Ran Well

Trois Temp showed a great burst of speed in the day's opener, but he had to hard iddle at the end to stall off the determined bid of Silver Sticking. Bedwell's horse closing like a whirlwind, Raleigh was third four lengths back. Ace of Diamonds looked like a winner at the far turn, but fading away, he was humped the tail too close, thereby getting into the heavy footling. The ring got a good scorching on the win of Trois Temp.

A Close Finish

There were three races on the post in the baby race, the second of the day. Gerardo, the opening favorite, won by a whisker from the runner-up, while Maid, which was but an eyelash in front of Baldrina, the post favorite. The others were strung out clear back to the paddock gate. Had the distance been ten feet farther, Maid would have won and Baldrina would have been second.

Orcagna Cake-Walked

Red Walker's four-year-old chestnut gelding Orcagna took the track at the rise of the barrier in the mile and a half event and was laughing. Each time one of the field would creep up close to him, Clark would let out a snap and Orcagna would jump to the front again like the rest were tied to the rail. He won off by four lengths from Clamor, the favorite. Clamor was for a long time the best horse yesterday, and then some. Kogo ran right where she was played, in the third hole. The others had no chance.

An Iron Horse

Bedwell's game six-year-old Mithridatta horse, Fulletta, proved that he is made of iron again yesterday, simply outclassing a fair field and winning pulled up. Dollie Dollars degenerated, finishing back in the pack. It was a fine day for the field, but it was as much of a cinch to run second as Fulletta was to win, but she didn't show it.

Marian Casey Wins

Marian Casey took the last race in a gallop. She would have been closer pressed had Clamor been awake at the post with a chance to win. Green Goods, after making up a big gap, Green Goods, touted as a good thing, ran third.

The Stars of the Western Turf Will Parade Tomorrow

With the running each week of some big event, the past days have been somewhat quiet in comparison to the recent big features; still with the approach of Washington's birthday and the Derby, the next all-around event of the season, the attention has been centered on this coming classic and the mediocre races of the closing week will be forgiven and forgotten in the many rich treats that are in store for racegoers with the coming six days of sport.

Tomorrow, which marks the anniversary of the birth of the father of our country, will be fittingly observed by the honored at the beautiful Williams' Park course with the running of the California

LEE DEMIER.

Derby, the real classic of the American turf since the closing of racing throughout the eastern and southern states. The Derby named in honor of the star is the only one left that has any claim to class.

As President Washington was a great lover of the thoroughbred and a superb horseman, running and racing some of the best animals of his time, it is only fitting that the nation's anniversary should be celebrated on this great anniversary and holiday the leading classic of the West. As the case of General Washington, the field that will face the barrier in tomorrow's great three-year-old event will have the blood of royal blooded equine stars to compete for first honors. This event having been won by youngsters in previous years that have made their mark in turf history, has been looked forward to as being the race that shows up the future champions of the turf and tomorrow's big race will not lack for want of stars to compete. The pick of the three-year-olds in training has been made and the race will be a first-class Derby of the season of 1909 and may possibly be the last, though we hope not, to be run on the golden shores of the Pacific coast. So that it is only in line that what is synonymous with all that is noble and good in the "king of sports" should have a betting finale on the day that marks all that is noble and good in mankind, "Washington's Birthday."

Week's Offerings

The program on the coming week is so full of offerings that the six days promise more in the way of sport than has even been seen this side of the Rockies.

Commencing tomorrow the big holiday crowd will have ample reason to enjoy the magnificent racing and see the stars of the American turf try out for a premier.

The Derby in itself is sufficient reason why we should all turn out for the Williams Park, and will have an array of equine stars that should make us all smile and cheer as they gallop to the post. The event will be the main performance of the week, and much is expected of the greater array of three-year-olds ever brought together in this Western State, and a grand contest should result in the hands of one or two of the best horses in the country.

What to Expect

What is expected to be the greatest week's racing in the history of the Pacific coast will be inaugurated tomorrow, "Washington's Birthday," when the rich classic, the California Derby, will be decided. In this race will be seen in full the greater array of three-year-olds ever brought together in this Western State, and a grand contest should result in the hands of one or two of the best horses in the country.

Orcagna Wins the Mile and a Half Event

Marian Casey Won the Confidence of Her Many Backers by Taking the Closing Race in a Gallop

A reaction is bound to come, and in the end may work to the betterment of the sport, but until that time comes, the owner of thoroughbreds is wondering what his fate will be.

Out of the dark clouds a little ray of hope is commencing to gleam, and the glad tidings comes that work will shortly commence on the big Mexican and the season of racing in our brother republic will open in the first part of November at the new track across from the Texas coast, and with the larger cities of that country a circuit will be formed that assures continuous racing throughout the winter.

Again, word comes from the South that racing on an elaborate scale will be carried on next winter in Florida, so that with these two prominent centers in view, the interim "king of sports" will be kept alive until the liberty-loving people of this continent assert themselves and re-establish the game on a firmer and better basis.

Texas, that big State of the Southwest that has become so prominently identified with the game the past few months, has taken time by the forelock and will strengthen its laws so that the game will have a safe haven in that State. The powers that control the sport realize the undying that is going on throughout the United States, and are moving every endeavor to place the sport above and out of the hands of the get-rich-quick mongers.

At the present session of that State's Legislature a bill will be presented for favorable action allowing a limited number of days to the month of May for the pari-mutuel machines, and for that reason the framers of this bill have sent to the Racing Commission of Kentucky for data and a machine to demonstrate its uses. A racing commission is to be established to look after the game and the sports, and everything will be done to give citizens of the Lone Star State racing as it should be—clean, clear and above reproach.

Jockey Dugan

Within the next few weeks Jockey Eddie Dugan, the American's foremost and ablest horse pilot, will sail for England to join the Whitney table under charge of Trainer Jack Johnson, who has been making one another. "What chance will Eddie Dugan, reputed to be one of the best American jockeys, have in the hands of the best English jockeys?"

Oakland Spends Twenty-Seven Millions in Building Improvements in Four Years

FOUR YEARS OF BUILDING IN OAKLAND

Approximately $27,000,000 Has Been Spent in House Construction

The building ordinance now in effect in Oakland went into operation April 10, 1905. It is a matter of public interest to learn what has since been done under it, because it furnished the first means ever adopted in Oakland to keep official tab on the city's material growth. It will be a surprise to most citizens of Oakland, although it may not be to non-residents, that since the ordinance went into effect the records of the Board of Public Works show that up to February 1, 1909, the recorded value of the building improvements aggregate the handsome sum of $24,677,578.18 for the four years, as follows:

1905	$2,422,837.41
1906	7,090,155.13
1907	8,241,983.25
1908	6,923,582.39
Total	$24,677,578.18

Improvements Undervalued

During the first three years, particularly during 1906 and 1907, those who took out permits for their building improvements undervalued them to reduce the fee and for other private reasons. This was apparent to the experienced building inspector, but the Board of Public Works took a liberal view of the conditions and condoned the under-valuation. To the building improvements of these three years it is conservatively estimated by the inspector that at least 10 per cent should be added to the recorded amount. Last year, he thinks, owners made a more accurate report, and the sum total for it is practically correct.

Fine Value of Improvements

Adding 10 per cent, however, to the three years when there was manifestly a studied disposition of value, Secretary Fawcett estimates that the total amount of money put into private building improvements in this city during the four years under the ordinance is, reached at last $27,000,000.

Prospects for 1909

"If the applications for building permits during the year continue as they now promise doing," remarked Secretary Fawcett the other day, "the year 1909 will be a record breaker in the matter of new building for it will amount to $10,000,000. It is almost inconceivable the great number of costly building improvements that are at present being the built and will soon be started. When we are fairly over the rainy season building improvements alone will be started."

DEVELOPMENT OF S. P. CO.'S PLANS

Work on the Conversion of Local Steam Lines to Electric Traction to Be Rushed

The plans of the Southern Pacific company for the electrification of its local steam transportation service are rapidly materializing. During the week about one hundred men began tearing up the tracks in Alameda for their reconstruction as electric traction lines. The foundation for the electric power house at Ervinsville has been laid and material is on the ground for the superstructure. Most of the material for the erection of the trolley lines and track equipment is in store in the West Oakland yards and the contracts placed for the construction of the remainder are being carried out under rush orders.

On Friday night, General Manager and Vice-President P. B. Calvin revealed to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce and the members of the Board of Public Works the plans that are to be carried out in the development of the electric railway system joining Oakland and Berkeley and the bridge and ferry service in conjunction with the erection of a handsome, commodious and permanent new Oakland passenger station at the foot of Sixteenth street to displace the temporary shed which has done service so long at that point. These plans provide for a double-track overhead railway where it follows the right-of-way

BUILDING REVIVAL IN COLLEGE TOWN

Fine Weather Stimulates the Realty Market—S. P. Starts Electrifying Steam Lines.

BERKELEY, Feb. 19.—With a few days of sunshine comes an awakening of the building industries in Berkeley. The large number of permits taken out show the business done by the contractors and from this week's outlook none of them will starve. The failure of a number of contractors to have the five limits reduced for the purpose of putting up frame buildings on University avenue has disgusted the neighbors to the proposed edifices, who contend that frame buildings are better than vacant lots, but they would doubtless have held other views had their insurance rates been raised, as was intended by the companies had the proposed reduction gone into effect.

Revival of Building.

Plans are being drawn for a Class A building to be erected on University avenue in the near future, to be used as a hotel, with stores below. The proposition of putting up three frame buildings on University avenue, with the reduction of the five limits, may possibly resolve itself into the erection of one brick building near Grove street. A number of business blocks are planned for the south end, at Alameda avenue, and W. T. Dooley is erecting a small brick building on Center street near the new bank building. A number of new residences are being planned for the North Berkeley region, and two have been started in Claremont.

Realty Market Improving.

This building activity, caused by the suspension for the week when no materials could be transported, is having a very stimulating effect on the realty market. Even during the dull weeks, when prospective customers were afraid to venture out in the mud for the purpose of looking at lots, the realty men have not been idle.

A Berkeley agent has just completed a new list of Berkeley business property, as the old one was so far from up to date as to be practically useless to the broker. The new list gives the owners of every piece of business property in the city, how used the lots it brings, and in the case of vacant lots, price, owner, mortgages and other data. This company reports a good business for so rainy a season, as do other of the realty men in the college city. Several of the fraternity houses in Berkeley are looking for new quarters, some intending to buy and others wishing to rent. It is rumored that a private preparatory school will soon be built in the northern part of the town.

New Industries.

Additions will be made on one of the West Berkeley factories soon, and the erection of a match factory in this district is being planned. Land along the new Southern Pacific line on Ellsworth street is being eagerly sought and this new line is greatly accelerating the sale of property to the east of Telegraph avenue, owing to the ease of reaching San Francisco under the new conditions. The installation of the protection in the Claremont district by the board of trustees at their last meeting, has started the home builders back to the hill region again. This region is the most desirable in Berkeley, now that there is no danger of a general conflagration, due to lack of protection. This implies to the hills of North Berkeley where hydrants are to be installed next month.

Electrifying Steam Lines.

Work has been started on the electrifying of the Southern Pacific lines

Work has been started on the electrifying of the Southern Pacific lines that run into Berkeley, and certain land is being held at a high price for station sites.

Building Permits.

The building permits issued for the week are as follows:

Allice Goodman, two-story frame house, eight rooms, cost $300, in North Berkeley, B. C. Richards, improvements, $500, A. G. Wood, improvements, $500, Fred M. Tupper, two-story frame house, seven rooms, cost $1000, in South Berkeley, O. P. McLean, two-story frame house, nine rooms, cost $1500, just begun, Edmund Martin, one-story three rooms, frame, cost $1500, West Berkeley, W. B. Wells, one-story, frame, East Berkeley, $2000, W. ## SAN JOSE MAN'S BERKELEY HOUSE

He Invests in Elmwood Park Property and Builds Pretty Cottage on It

John L. Stubbs of San Jose has recently leased his newly completed residence on Elmwood avenue, in Elmwood Park, Berkeley, and will soon begin the construction of a new one on an adjoining lot facing on Cambridge street. The new house will contain seven rooms and bath, with a large cemented basement and several porches and sun balconies.

BIG CALDWELL APARTMENT HOUSE

To Be Erected on Corner of Harrison Boulevard and Twenty-second Street

A three-story apartment house is to be erected for Dr. C. Caldwell on the southwest corner of Twenty Harrison Boulevard, facing on a lot with 130 feet frontage on Harrison Boulevard with a depth of 107 feet. A magnificent view will be obtained of the Piedmont hills, and in a more desirable site for a apartment house could not be obtained.

The building will contain 2, 3 and 4 rooms each, heated and have a hot water apartment. The entire lot of rough redwood trees will be cut down and sold as such in a private sale. A balcony from which a view can be obtained. The roof will be covered with gravel and the roof garden will contain live trees and shrubs. The flower balconies will be planted with geraniums and the contract of the gardeners will give a place in the natural redwood of the lot. The interior will have over the entire building an ample supply with range of kitchen, treatment finish and object being to carry out the plan in three-four work.

TWO APARTMENTS FOR ALAMEDA

Both to Be Erected on Santa Clara Avenue and to Cost Jointly $48,000.

The plans for two large apartment houses to be erected on Santa Clara avenue, Alameda, have been drawn by Architect Thomas D. Newson. Both designs are in the mission style of architecture and have been prepared to the order of Herman & Herman, acting as agents for the owner, whose identity is reserved.

One will be a three-story, twenty-two foot apartment house, to be erected on the north side of Santa Clara avenue, near Grand street, on a lot 50x100 feet. It is estimated that this structure will cost $20,000. The other structure will be a two-story, sixteen apartment building, which will be erected on a lot 60 by 100, located on Santa Clara avenue, near Lafayette street. It will cost $28,000. The interiors of both are finished and equipped with all up-to-date conveniences. Work on both will be started as soon as the rainy weather. The front elevations of these two buildings are presented on this page.

TIDAL CANAL PROPERTY DEAL

Pacific Tank Company Purchases 26 Acres--Big Industry Will Start When Canal Is Opened

The negotiations have been practically closed by L. C. Sessions & Co., and the deeds drawn and signed ready for transfer of a tract of twenty-six acres and a fraction of land fronting on the north-east end of the San Leandro canal and on the west shore of San Leandro bay to the Pacific Tank company, a local manufacturing industry controlled by eastern capital. A portion of the tract will be occupied by a large manufacturing establishment, which will in all probability give employment to several hundred skilled workmen. The remainder of the tract will be held in reserve.

Works to Be Erected.

It is understood that the corporation will begin the erection of its proposed works as soon as it is assured that the canal will be thrown open to navigation for commercial uses. Apparently all that is needed to accomplish this is the passage of a resolution by the county board of supervisors to provide for the operation and maintenance of the drawbridges crossing the canal.

Tripartite Agreement.

Some months ago an agreement was reached between the supervisors, the city authorities of Alameda and Colonel Biddle, U. S. A., engineer in charge of rivers and harbors on the Pacific coast, for the opening of the waterway to commerce. The supervisors then agreed to appoint bridge landers and provide for the operation and maintenance of the drawbridges and the Alameda authorities pledged themselves to furnish from the municipal electric plant the power needed to operate them.

War Department Consents.

The arrangement was quite satisfactory to Colonel Biddle and he gave his consent to the use of the canal by commerce and also the use of the narrow strip owned by the government on each side of the canal for wharfing out privileges.

He represented then that the reason the War Department could not undertake the operation and maintenance of the drawbridges was because Congress had not made any appropriation of money to cover the expense. Since then his report recommending the use of the canal by commerce under the agreement reached has been incorporated in the report of the Secretary of War to Congress with his approval. The recommendation carried with it the suggestion that Congress declare the canal a navigable waterway.

Supervisory Action Needed

The personnel of the county board of supervisors changed after the agreement was made and Colonel Biddle's report was submitted. It was so far the necessary local legislation to put the agreement into effect has not been passed. All that is needed to put it into effect is the passage of a resolution obligating the county to run, operate and maintain the drawbridges.

Why Congress Delays.

Pending the passage of such a resolution, Congress is delaying declaring the canal a navigable waterway for that would make it obligatory for Congress to provide for the expense of operating the bridges which the supervisors and the Alameda authorities have voluntarily agreed to assume.

Other Industries Waiting.

It is understood that several large industrial firms are ready to close important deals for trackage rights on the canal. The consideration for the Pacific Tank company property is reserved. Before making this purchase the Pacific Tank company had previously acquired ownership to twelve acres of land on the north side of the canal west of High street drawbridge.

SIXTEEN APARTMENT HOUSE ON SAN CLARA AVENUE, NEAR LAFAYETTE, ALAMEDA. TO COST $18,000.

RESIDENCE OF J. M. HIND CLAREMONT.

APARTMENT HOUSE MISSION DESIGN

It Will Contain Twenty-four Separate Suites and Will Cost $35,000

The F. J. Conner apartment house is a three-story frame building containing twenty-four apartments of two, three and four rooms and bath each, to be erected on the north side of Durant street, about 300 feet east of Telegraph avenue.

The exterior will be treated in the Mission style of construction with cement plaster on exterior walls, the roofs and makes a very attractive method of construction and style as the smooth plaster in the natural gray with trimmings of cream form a pleasing combination. No other method of construction so readily adapts itself to conditions and surroundings as exterior plaster and a smooth unbroken surface of the plaster free from any indentations or grooves so noticeable on wood buildings, lend a richness to the exterior.

The red tile on the roof adds to the combination of exterior color and the buildings of this kind are usually unexcelled by any other except of stone construction, where a vast greater amount of money is expended.

The plans of the Conner apartment building have been drawn by architect C. M. Cook. The building will cost about $35,000, exclusive of lot which is 75x150 feet and is situated between two large residences.

The interior will be treated in the Mission style with fumed oak finish and furniture. The bathrooms and kitchens will be tiled six feet eight inches high. The bedrooms will be papered with delicate patterns of paper. Dining rooms will be paneled five feet six inches high and have beamed ceilings. Two will be tapestry, fringe in dining rooms above picture mold and the panels in the dining rooms will be variously treated with leather in some burlap, tapestry and paper of various kinds. The object is to give a different treatment of woodwork finish and furniture to the different of color and the furnishings to be of the same color scheme with two or three tones of same color.

Mr. Conner has spent several months in study for the building and has selected crooked. These the architect has incorporated in the plans and the structure when completed will embody all the best ideas in apartment house construction and finish.

There will be a steam heating plant installed with a hot water plant to furnish hot water to all fixtures throughout the building.

PROHIBITIONISTS TO HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET

The Alameda County Prohibitionists will hold their annual banquet next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock, at the Creamery restaurant, 581 Twelfth street. Rev. C. F. Moore will preside and among the speakers will be Fred Hall of San Francisco, J. W. Thomas H. Boyer of Oakland, and several others. Over one hundred plates have already been taken.

CALDWELL, THIRTY-SIX APARTMENT HOUSE, CORNER TWENTY-SECOND STREET AND HARRISON BOULEVARD. TO COST $50,000.

REVOLUTIONIST HAD AMERICAN PASSPORT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—State Department advices from Russia are that the man arrested two weeks ago in Moscow carrying an American passport bearing the name of Stevens was a Russian revolutionist, who presumably had stolen Stevens' papers. Stevens, to whom the passport had been issued, was a native of San Francisco and the papers had been sent to him in New York City.

BARON MONSEUR IS TO GO TO CONSTANTINOPLE

BRUSSELS, Feb. 20.—Baron Monseur, the Belgian minister to the United States, has been transferred to Constantinople. He will be succeeded at Washington by Count de Brissacrot Steenbecque, recently Belgian minister to Morocco, whose appointment was also announced today.

Oakland Providing Ample Protection Against the Possibilities of a Big Fire

NEW FIRE ENGINE HOUSES BUILDING

Four Reinforced Concrete Structures Now in Course of Construction by the City

Within a few months the city will have five new fire stations or engine-houses. Four of them will be fire and earthquake proof structures, being constructed of reinforced concrete. All four will be similar in design, although the plans are not all by the same architect. Architect F. Soderberg of this city is the designer of three of the new buildings and Cunningham & Politeo, San Francisco, are the architects of the fourth, a perspective drawing of which illustrates this page today. It is a fair representation of the type adopted for all of the four structures. This particular fire station will be located at Fifty-first street and Telegraph avenue and it will cost approximately $20,000. The contractor have the material on the ground to begin work at once.

One of the Soderberg located in the middle of the block on the west side of Alice street, between Ninth and Tenth, is now in course of construction. It will cost $18,500. The other two stations designed by the same architect are located on Twenty-fifth street and Broadway and on East Fourteenth near Thirtieth avenue. The latter displaces an old engine house which is now being demolished to make way for the new building, which will cost $24,000, being the largest of the quartet. The contractors will begin to lay the concrete foundation and walls of the Broadway and Twenty-fifth street station on Monday. The plans for the fifth fire-engine house are now being drawn by Architect F. D. Voorhees. It is to be a two-story frame structure and will be located at Fifty-sixth and Colby streets. It is estimated that it will cost between $7,000 and $8,000.

FIRE STATION TO BE ERECTED ON FIFTY-FIRST STREET, NEAR TELEGRAPH AVENUE.

SEEKS PARDON FOR KENTUCKY FUGITIVE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 20.—Kentucky's most vexatious political and penal problem has emerged again with a petition presented to Governor Wilson yesterday by Calch Powers for the pardoning of former Governor W. S. Taylor, former Secretary of State Chas. Finlay and John L. Powers. The papers were signed by 15,000 citizens of Kentucky regardless of party.

Powers, who is a former secretary of state of Kentucky was, with Jim Howard, freed by Governor Wilson's pardon some months ago. The three men for whom Powers seeks the pardons were charged with being accessories, have fled to Indiana, where extradition has been refused.

TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLAR FLATS

Architect F. D. Voorhees reports that at the present time there are in course of construction on plans designed by himself five two-story buildings of two flats each on the south side of Nineteenth street, between West and Market streets, being erected by C. H. Lewis, a retired commission merchant, who was at one time a member of the City Council of Oakland, at a cost of $20,000. The five buildings are now approaching completion.

On the same architect's plans and under his supervision a $4,000 bungalow is being erected for Mrs. West, on Webster street, between Twenty-ninth and Orchard streets. It consists of seven rooms and bath. The plastering of the interior is now in progress.

A two-story, eight-room dwelling designed by Mr. Voorhees is also being erected for E. E. Trefethen on Jayne avenue, between Perkins and Lee streets, in the Adams Point tract. The building will cost about $5,000.

Voorhees is likewise working on plans for a $6,000 residence for F. W. Diehl, to be erected on West street, near Thirty-fifth street. As soon as the plans are finished bids will be invited and a contract awarded for its construction immediately thereafter.

AUTOMOBILE DEALERS FORM AN ASSOCIATION

Auto Trade of Alameda County Is Now United

By ELIZABETH GREGG.

A very enthusiastic meeting of those interested in the automobile industry was held Friday evening at the Keystone Motor Car Company's garage. About fifty of the leading garage men, automobile dealers and repair men were present. It has long been the desire of many men engaged in the automobile trade to bring a closer relationship and better feeling between the trade in general and to have an organization on this side of the bay hence the meeting. The Automobile Trade Association of Alameda County is the name adopted with the following officers elected: President Robert W. Martland, of Murtland, Pearl & Elkington, Oakland; vice president, Diamond Tire, L. L. Cunningham, of the Keystone Motor Car Company; secretary,

W. J. Freeling, of the White garage; treasurer, W. L. Jones, agent for the Lane steamer. Various propositions were put forward that would tend to bring closer connection in the automobile business closer together and committees have been appointed to report on the advisability of endurance runs and hill climbing contests. A great deal of discussion was had on the system now in vogue for penalizing cars in endurance runs, and the committee will take the matter up and report on suggestions for changing them. Another meeting will be held next Friday evening at 8 o'clock, at the Keystone garage and all those engaged in the automobile industry in any of its branches are earnestly requested to be present and become members of the association.

INSUFFICIENT INFLATION HAS TENDENCY TO RUIN TIRE

Twitchell Air Gauge a Timely Invention

Many tires go to pieces because of improper inflation. In fact, the dealers state that seventy-five per cent of their replacements are due to ignorant or negligent care of the tires, mainly in the way of insufficient air pressure. Outwardly there is very little difference between tires inflated one to thirty pounds, another to fifty pounds, a third to ninety pounds which is the proper pressure for the size indicated. A tire insufficiently inflated, and passing over even slight obstacles is bent or depressed at an angle which quickly causes a rupture in its fabric whereas the properly inflated tire is depressed scarcely at all, presenting the strongest possible resisting surface. The Twitchell air gauge for registering the pressure in tires the work of a Los

SAN JOSE AUTO SHOW A SUCCESS

Twelve Exhibitors Represented by Seventy-five Cars

San Jose has shown its progressiveness by holding an automobile show for the past four days—a show which, according to all who have visited it ranks well with any ever given in this part of the state. It was held under the auspices of the Santa Clara Valley Automobile club, and the proceeds after refunding to the dealers the money paid for floor space will go to improving the country roads in the valley. Crowds were in attendance all week. During the first days many of the Oakland and San Francisco dealers went down and last night which was San Francisco night saw practically every dealer represented in the crowd of spectators. The San Francisco Motor Club gave a run which brought out a number of owners to see the show. Friday night was dedicated to society and the social leaders of San Jose and the surrounding success. I simply give my car plenty of oil and let her go.

Tim Murray left for Los Angeles on Thursday to drive the 1000 mile entries in the famous Pasadena-Alhambra Hill climb tomorrow.

Chas. S. Howard has entered the Buick "White Streak" in the following events: Runabouts $1000 and under, runabouts $1000 to $1500. The fast little car is also entered in the free-for-all in which event it will be compelled to compete against some of the highest-priced cars on the market. The 40 horse power Buick is entered in the event for touring cars from $1500 to $2000.

Mr. Howard is confident of winning at least two out of four events.

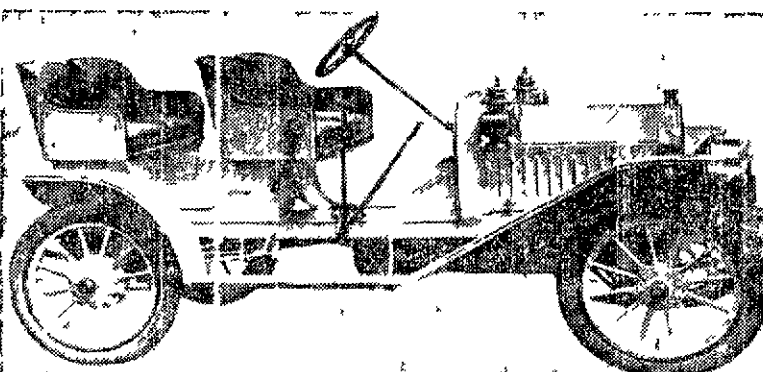

A prophet may lack honor in his own country but from the statistics compiled by the Ohio State automobile department the Winton does not lack honor in Cleveland, the city in which it is manufactured. The figures show that more motorists drive Wintons than any other one make of car. Every style of Winton is represented from the one-cylinder car of 1890 to the 1000 six-cylinder.

Pierce Arrow and Buick cars won the Michelin prize this week for removing and replacing a dismountable tire. Miss Gray's time was forty seconds.

Walter C. Morris of the Autocar is a frequent visitor in Oakland where he has many good prospects as a result of his company's success in the Chicago show. The Winton-Haven Company has at present several Autocars in use and has been an advocate of the car for some years.

C. D. Mathewson is just in receipt of advice that the Diamond tires led in the Chicago show as they did in the combined shows in New York. In the Chicago show the Diamond, equipped 217.16 per cent of all the cars with pneumatic tires which was 20 per cent more than the second highest make. In other words there were 75.4 per cent of Diamond tires on 321 cars. Fourteen other makes of tires divided the remainder. Diamond tire popularity was also shown in the Philadelphia show where Diamond tires equipped 95 cars out of 112. Fourteen makes divided the remainder. In the Cincinnati show twenty two out of fifty three cars were equipped with Diamond tires. Eleven cars being equipped with the nearest competing makes. Nine other makes divided the remainder.

BUICK

THE WHITE STREAK which astonished the automobile world by leading ALL American cars in the International Light Car Race at Savannah and making the fastest mile of the race. The same car—two of them—made a perfect score in the recent 200-mile endurance run from San Francisco to Oakland and return. The White Streak's victories are many—but EVERY DAY IT IS DOING WHAT THE BUSINESS MAN WANTS HIS CAR TO DO—MAKING GOOD. See this car at the Anglo-American inventor, has gained instantaneous popularity wherever it has been introduced. The W. D. Newerf Rubber Company, distributor of the gauge, is receiving orders from all over the country, besides numerous inquiries. The Morgan & Wright Company has ordered 350 gauges. Other orders are from Vermont, Connecticut, Alabama, Texas and various points in the Middle West. The tire manufacturers are quick to recognize the value and ready adaptability of the gauge is indicated by the large order received from the Morgan & Wright Company. A new Los Angeles industry has been firmly established.

The Twitchell air gauge is about the size of a lead pencil, three and a half inches long. The man who carries one in his pocket has no excuse for guessing at the amount of air in his tires, for in two seconds he can determine the exact amount. The W. D. Newerf Company guarantees the registration to be correct. It is generally admitted among automobile dealers that the Twitchell gauge will go far toward lessening tire troubles when the majority of owners have seen its usefulness put into effect.

POPE HARTFORD SHOW TO TAKE PLACE THIS WEEK

Consolidated Motor Car Co. Exhibits Machines

There is to be a private automobile show in San Francisco this week, when seven handsome Pope Hartford cars will be on exhibition. The Consolidated Motor Car Company which handles the Pope Hartford line has arranged to have these cars on display for one week after which time they will go to the purchasers for whom they have been ordered.

The exhibit will contain one of every Pope Hartford model made. An exceedingly beautiful landaulet which was one of the New York show cars, will perhaps attract more attention than any other model. It is finished in dark blue and has light whip cord upholstery with silver trimmings. Another very striking machine is a touring car finished in much array and green, while a third has a color finish of purple lakes. All of the machines are 40-horsepower and of the same motor design the only difference being in the bodies.

The Consolidated Motor Car Company has issued a cordial invitation to all of its friends, as well as anyone interested in motor cars, to call during the week.

country were on hand in their best gowns to view the highly polished machines in their gaily decorated booths. About 75 automobiles were on show divided among twelve exhibitors. The following firms and machines had floor space: W. F. Hunt Buick and Pioneer Automobile Co's lines, Victor Motor Car Co., Sunset San Jose Importers, The Motor Car and Studebaker Lines, Letcher's Garage, Auto Livery Co's lines and Cadillac, Osen & Hunter Co., Mitchell Geo. B. Polhemus, Winton, Wallace Bros., Rambler, P. Smith, J. W. Leavitt, Co's lines and Kisselcar, W. J. Bennett, Tourist J. H. West Ford.

Many prospective buyers have visited the show and it has been successful from the sales point of view as well as otherwise.

WILL GO AFTER THE PELTON CUP

Christensen in Buick Will Make Trip This Week

Carl Christensen, the Buick agent of Oakland, is to try for the Pelton cup this week. Some time ago the Pelton cup was offered by Hazlett L. Pelton to the person making the fastest trip around the bay before May 15th the names and time of all contestants being registered on the cup. Mr. Christensen is anxious to try a Buick White streak as he feels that with a light car he will have no tire troubles and should make the trip without a stop. The start will be from San Francisco and Broadway and the finish at Golden Gate and Van Ness avenues. Many people who have been watching the Buick's performance, are interested in this trip, and feel satisfied that the Buick will establish a record which it will be hard to beat.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES

Another shipment of Regal cars reached Oakland yesterday. While all of these cars are sold they will be on exhibition for a few days that those interested in the different models may have a chance to see them before ordering.

"My speedometer shows over 4000 miles, and I have not had to use any car during the six months I have owned it," said R. L. Huffman a well known motorist of this city, who was one of the first purchasers of Chalmers-Detroit cars. "I have owned all over the state, and have never encountered the word 'trouble'." I think a great deal of the troubles of motorists are due to the owners themselves. An automobile has to be taken care of the same as an animal, only it is not as expensive. With the minimum amount of precaution and care, an automobile such as mine for instance, will not cause a motorist any trouble or expense year in or year out. The average owner of an automobile is better off without any tools to work with. Then he cannot monkey around the car, taking it apart and never putting it back properly. That is the main cause of my

the State University Is Cause of Comment

THE KNAVE

Charity Shows a Dreadful
Vulgarity at Times in Reaching for Boodle

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—Isn't it about time that Northern California began to agitate for State division? Hitherto all the yawping in that direction has come from the South, but the North is the aggrieved party and more and more we are called to bear truth to the testimony that

Dark and true and tender is the North

But bright and fierce and fickle is the South.

Here a little while ago it was Los Angeles that prevented San Francisco from extending its sea wall and obtaining its harbor extension. That was not because our faithless Chamber of Commerce sold itself to the lumber kings and sent out its circular against the popular projects. Los Angeles used that circular as a subterfuge. Her real reason for voting against those harbor bonds was jealousy of San Francisco—poor old San Francisco that everybody should wish to help in her long, hard fight for restoration.

That, however, is ancient history, and we are going to give Los Angeles and the South another chance next year to show petty spite and provincial envy. What I started out to mention was the most recent attack on the State University by the South. Ever since as far back as 1887, when old Dad Brierley of Los Angeles led the assault on the great Berkeley institution, there have been wee Los Angeles statesmen who were only too eager to put a crimp in the university appropriations.

Now, you never knew a northerner to fight an appropriation for a Southern California school or asylum just because it was in the South. But the southerners hardly disguise their sectional hostility to the northern State institutions. Consequently you'll find that Whittier, for instance, has had a great deal more money than the similar northern reform school at Ione. The southern hospitals and normal schools get all the best of it in cutting up the appropriation pie. But you'd think that a Californian would hardly show open hostility to a great State university, even if he did come from the South.

However, here we find Assemblyman Cogswell of Los Angeles leading in the same old attack. He has been hammering the State University the best his limited capacity would permit, putting his ignorance on view, and thinly disguising his sectional spleen. So it is necessary to look a little into the kind of men Los Angeles selects to go to Sacramento and fight the State's greatest pride and most distinguished success.

According to the tales told by the old timers of the South, Cogswell is not only hardly a Californian, but hardly an American citizen. The story goes that not so very long ago, at a school procession in Monrovia this same man Cogswell and his father got out of their carriage and quit the parade because they would not ride under the American flag with which that carriage was decorated. Their Canuck souls were roused within them and they felt that to ride under this country's flag was an insult to their dear old queen. No wonder he's fighting that great American institution, the free university.

Strangely enough, this Cogswell represents the historic old El Monte district, once representative of Democratic intensity and southern dash and chivalry. Time was when it was never safe to say how the South had gone in an election until the returns were in from the Monte. The legend ran that the southerners settled thickly in that section waited until they found how many votes were needed to secure a Democratic triumph and then made up their returns accordingly.

It was in those brave old Democratic days, too, that the citizens of El Monte awoke one morning to find the bodies of five cattle thieves swinging in the wind from the beam of the great gate of the town. That sort of American citizens wouldn't have selected as their representative a man who would not ride with the American flag, and if he opposed the great State University they would have been very apt to string him up alongside the cattle thieves on that historic gate beam. But of such is now the envious Southland.

Down at the other university, Stanford, a strange sort of complication has arisen. President Jordan is working to cut off the revenue of his own university.

Now, of course Jordan has not set out with accursed deliberation to do any such thing, but he is doing it just the same and his trustees are mighty mad about it too. You see, the Stanford president has had presented at Sacramento by Senator Black a bill striking at the saloon. He wants no liquor sold within a mile and a half of his big college. He pursues the venerable notion that when you make it difficult for boys to drink and make them feel they are doing something smart in getting away with an anti-drinking law you are encouraging their sobriety. Most sensible fathers of today force liquor on their children, disgust them with it, and so rear them in sobriety. The outworn way was to make a boy think he was doing something smart and devilish when he took a drink and so drunkenness thrived among the young.

But, however the ethical wisdom or unwisdom of the methods of President Jordan and the professors of the Student Affairs Committee, the present fuss is of a strictly practical character. The attack on the saloon men has roused their fellows and their associations. They are up to hurt Stanford if they can.

Now a fine fat part of the Stanford revenues is derived from the sale of brandy from the great and famous vineyard at Vina. The saloon men and liquor merchants up and down the State, angered at the attack by Jordan on some of their fellows, are starting a movement for the boycotting of Vina brandy. They are threatening to extend their boycott to the Eastern States. Consequently President Jordan is working to cut off the revenue of his own university, and my original statement doesn't seem such a paradox after all. Said one of the Stanford trustees:

"Here we are trying our best to sell the Vina brandy and support the university. Up jumps Jordan and attacks the saloons. That makes us a little bit ridiculous, doesn't it?"

Of course our Kirmess could not pass without bringing forth a display of prudery. Some of the women who had the thing in charge went to Haig Patigian, the versatile sculptor, and asked him to draw for them a poster advertisement. This artist is always doing things for charity, so he consented as usual to do something for nothing and appointed a time for the women to view his picture.

Then he sat down and drew a graceful girl in flowing diaphanous draperies dancing to the pleasing notes of the lute. There was grace in all the lines and the artist's friends predicted for the poster a great success. The outline of the girlish figure showed dimly through the draperies, but there was not the faintest suggestion of the salacious in the pose or the drawing—it was all a pleasant art.

But when the women came to see it some of them threw up their hands and let an expression of shocked horror add to the sourness of their faces.

"Oh, my!" they exclaimed, "it will never do to have our young daughters dancing at a public place when an advertisement like that goes out. People would come expecting to see them show their shapes."

So the disgusted artist, too much put out to draw another figure by hiring another model at his own expense, just drew a dark skirt, pasted it on the graceful figure and sent out to the world the hasty product, in which it did not require an artist's eye to detect the patchwork. The poster was a fine example of what prudery can do to art.

And then those carefully guarded daughters went to the Kirmess, danced friskily, and a great many of them showed a lot of the sacred female leg. But that isn't the worst of it. The old rounders, connoisseurs in leg shows, went to the Kirmess and came away declaring that the display of ankles and calves was anything but a success. Those girls that the old women were so much concerned about showed quite enough of their form to please the old rounders, but they lacked in quality of display rather than quantity. So there is much talk in the clubs of pipestems and spindle shanks where graceful plumpness had been expected.

And when all is said and done, and when all the young maids and matrons have passed in review it was Mrs. Horton Phipps to whom the homage of the town has presented the apple. She had more dashing grace in the dance and more charm of manner and figure than any of the others, and with it all she carried her dance through with a modesty that did not permit of a word of cavil. Of course, the voting on the popularity of the dancers was merely a matter of the length of the purses and the depth of the pockets of the rich men who backed their daughters or their favorites, but the popularity of Mrs. Phipps was general and required no boosting of votes at ten cents a vote. Charity does show a dreadful vulgarity at times in reaching out after the boodle, doesn't she?

Among the incidents of the recent trial of Mike Coffey, the boodle Supervisor, for receiving a bribe for his vote on the overhead trolley franchise, was the pleasantness of former Superior Judge Carroll Cook referring to his having, in his youth, "spanked" his younger brother, Assistant District Attorney William Hoff Cook, who was prosecuting the man whom the former judge was defending. "And I will figuratively spank him again in this case," declared Carroll Cook. But Hoff Cook has developed into something of a spanker himself, for not only did he secure a conviction, but the jury took but thirty minutes to arrive at their verdict. Spanking honors apparently are easy between the Cook brothers.

The loss of the Coffey case may mean much to Judge Cook. This was his first jury trial in twelve years, he having been on the bench for that period. Had he won he undoubtedly would have soon found himself retained in the big criminal cases of the State, but having lost—well.

Judge Cook sought the advice of one of the leading criminal lawyers of the city before accepting employment in the Coffey case. The advice given him was not to go into the case for two practical reasons—one that he could not win, and the other that it would have a tendency to render him ineligible to appear in some other big cases that have and are occupying the attention of the public. Judge Cook, however, failed to heed the advice given him and whether he now regrets it or no I have not heard him say.

The foreman of the Coffey jury was Charles W. Pope, whose business is real estate. Pope has been active in various walks of life. Many years ago, and during the sandlot days, he was president of the Shoemakers' Union, a very lusty organization. The main fight of this union was against the Chinese. At one of its meetings the very serious charge was made against its secretary, P. B. Gallagher, of wearing Chinese-made shoes. A committee was appointed to investigate. Gallagher was loud in his denials of the charge but the committee were a practical body and they promptly and without giving formal notice flopped Gallagher on his back upon the President's table and proceeded to a careful examination of his foot wear. The verdict was that the shoes had been made by Ah Sin or a countryman of that Celestial. Gallagher was, of course, in deep disgrace. He survived, however, and is now a successful traveling salesman or drummer for one of the largest shoe houses in Chicago. Pope since that time has run, without success, for Supervisor and has acquired much realty in the Ocean Beach section of the city, all of which shows that there are opportunities in San Francisco, and what will come to those taking advantage of those opportunities.

Judge Robert Ferral distinguished himself in a closing argument in the Coffey trial by being one of counsel for the defendant. He referred to his nephew, former Supervisor James L. Gallagher, as a "blister-mouthed perjurer," and then returned to the "Old Sod" and dwelt upon what his countrymen thought of an informer by those perjured evidence "many an innocent man had been taken from cabin to scaffold." Bob became almost frenzied in his attacks and his empurpled countenance gave warning of a possible apoplectic attack. This effort was intended for the benefit of the one Irishman on the jury, but the forceful plea to prejudice was lost and it was in deep disgust that Ferral afterward ascertained that the lone Irish jurymen was from the North of Ireland and in full sympathy with the administration of English laws.

The criminal courts of this city have developed a new adjunct or feature. It is the female annex of the League of Justice. At the criminal trials of importance, or notoriety, a delegation of these women is to be seen in attendance. At a recent trial there were three representatives of this peculiar body present and taking an active interest, if not actually participating in the proceedings.

One of the trio was a young and anaemic woman who posed as a reporter. She brought forth from a reticule some scraps of paper and, borrowing a penknife, proceeded to sharpen the stub of a lead pencil. At the conclusion of this operation the birdlike claws of this interesting female bore many smudges in addition to their original grime which might indicate to a casual observer that the League of Justice will yet memorialize the Legislature to repeal, or at least amend, the law, "Cleanliness is next to Godliness."

The occasional scribbles of hieroglyphics were interspersed with verbal criticisms of the proceedings, for the benefit of others at the table, and the casting of approving or disapproving glances at the jurors as the conduct of the case pleased or displeased the almost ethereal creature. Little giggles, cooly smothered, also contributed to the part being played by the frail female in the interest of Justice.

The other two of the trio of female law promoters were aged and gray, one being bespectacled and both of the frowsy, dowdy order of attire. The grusser of this pair had in her hand a small leather covered book resembling a butcher's or grocer's pass book. In this she occasionally made a pencil note and as she did so would give the jury one of those "we are watching you, beware" glances.

Her manner, her attitude, devoid of mercy and filled with a desire to jail if not to cause to be gibbeted the defendant in the dock, recalled the story of Madame Lafarge. But instead of knitting the record of the work of Madame Guillotine, and thus keeping the record of the victims of that instrument of death as did her prototype in the French revolution, this latter day, Madame Lafarge made notes in her little book.

The three women possibly thought they were doing a duty to society. The seamed and hardened countenances of two of them bore no signs of their idea of justice being tempered with mercy.

To those who have witnessed it in action the Woman's Annex of the League of Justice is a curious, if not repulsive thing, and to the true types of the sex its purposes and course must be revolting.

The reduction of wages of mechanics in its employ by the present municipal administration has precipitated a controversy between it and the labor organizations. The latter have committees at work upon the records of the men who are running the affairs of the city and a spirited campaign is expected to result. Already the laborites have charged that the present administration has expended $ 0,500,000 as against $7,500,000, the disbursements of its predecessor for a corresponding period with nothing to show for the large addition of cost of government. In one year $55,000, expended for automobiles and the cost of expensive trips taken to Europe and to points in this country by officials, have been defrayed by the administration. A large and expensive bureau of spies is maintained and the cost of bodyguards for official, past and present, and including $5 a day for a man to trail the notorious "Big Jim" Gallagher and see that no harm comes to the precious hide of that worthy.

These things, and many more, have caused murmurs of discontent, if not growls loud and deep, to come from those mechanics and laborers whose wages have been reduced by the Board of Public Works and other municipal departments.

Added to these charges is one that goes to the pride and self-respect of every resident of San Francisco who resents the attitude of the administration in failing to provide a central home for the municipal offices. Under the plea of poverty money is being squandered in many directions and large sums expended in rentals of portions of buildings in private ownership and which are used to house the public offices, some of which are a mile apart, instead of being situated in one municipal structure. The attitude of the administration is regarded

Open the Canal to Commerce.

THE TRIBUNE prints this morning an announcement of the sale of a twenty-six-acre tract on the north side of the San Leandro tidal canal lying east of High street drawbridge. It has passed into the hands of an important manufacturing concern which must pull up stakes and move from the location it now occupies in San Francisco within the next six months to make room for railroad yarding. Some months ago the same firm bought a twelve-acre tract on the same side of the canal west of the High street drawbridge. Both tracts are to be used for the installation thereon of manufacturing plants which will give employment in all probability to several hundred skilled workmen. Both deals are, moreover, directly due to the prospects of an early opening of the tidal canal to commerce. The fact that the purchasing firm is financed by Eastern capitalists illustrates the growing interest that is being taken in the East in Oakland's future as a great manufacturing center.

THE TRIBUNE is informed that there are other Eastern manufacturing interests desirous of locating in the same quarter. But they want positive assurance that the canal will be opened to navigation before tying themselves up. The War Department has given its consent to the use of the canal and wharfing out privileges across the strip the government owns on both banks. But it is dependent upon the Board of Supervisors and the city of Alameda fulfilling the obligations they assumed when Colonel Biddle consented to the opening of the canal to commerce, namely, to bear the expense of operation and maintenance. The Alameda city authorities pledge the electric power supply from the municipal plant to work the draws in the bridges. They stand by their pledge. It is up to the Supervisors to fulfill their promise to provide bridge tenders and the cost of maintenance. The War Department has recommended the commercial use of the canal. Congress is waiting for the Supervisors to take positive action in the matter before the canal is declared a navigable waterway. If the canal should be declared navigable water before the Supervisors took the necessary legislative steps to fulfill their part of the agreement, the government would be required to operate the drawbridges at its own expense. In view of the fact that the government built the canal for tidal flushing purposes only, it makes a great concession to the county when it recognizes its value for commercial purposes and consents to such use on the terms agreed upon, and the assurance which is in evidence now that manufacturers are seeking sites on its banks for important industrial plants which will eventually add possibly thousands to the population and increase the value of the assessment roll should prompt the Supervisors to carry out their part of the agreement without delay.

Northern California Orange Growing

Tomorrow Cloverdale's annual citrus fair, which has been open for several days past, will close. It is the seventeenth of the series annually held in the same place. It was instituted and has since been maintained for the purpose of attracting the world's attention that the northern part of Sonoma county is a profitable orange growing belt and that the precious citrus fruits mature and ripen to perfection there without the aid of irrigation.

The outside world has been slow to understand that the much-advertised southern counties do not possess a monopoly of the orange-growing business by any means, although the professional boomers of that section of the State spare no effort to conceal that fact. If the central and northern counties of California had spent half the money which the southern counties have done in printer's ink in self laudation of their adaptability to orange growing, ten times the area now devoted to the industry would be producing the golden fruit. As it is, the aggregate area north of the Tehachapi range is not far short of equaling that in the territory lying south of it and it is constantly expanding. Orange growing has become, in fact, a great horticultural industry in several of the San Joaquin valley counties and in Sonoma, where the citrus fair is now in progress; Solano, Yolo, Sacramento, Butte, Placer and other counties, and some of them are large regular shippers to Eastern and other markets.

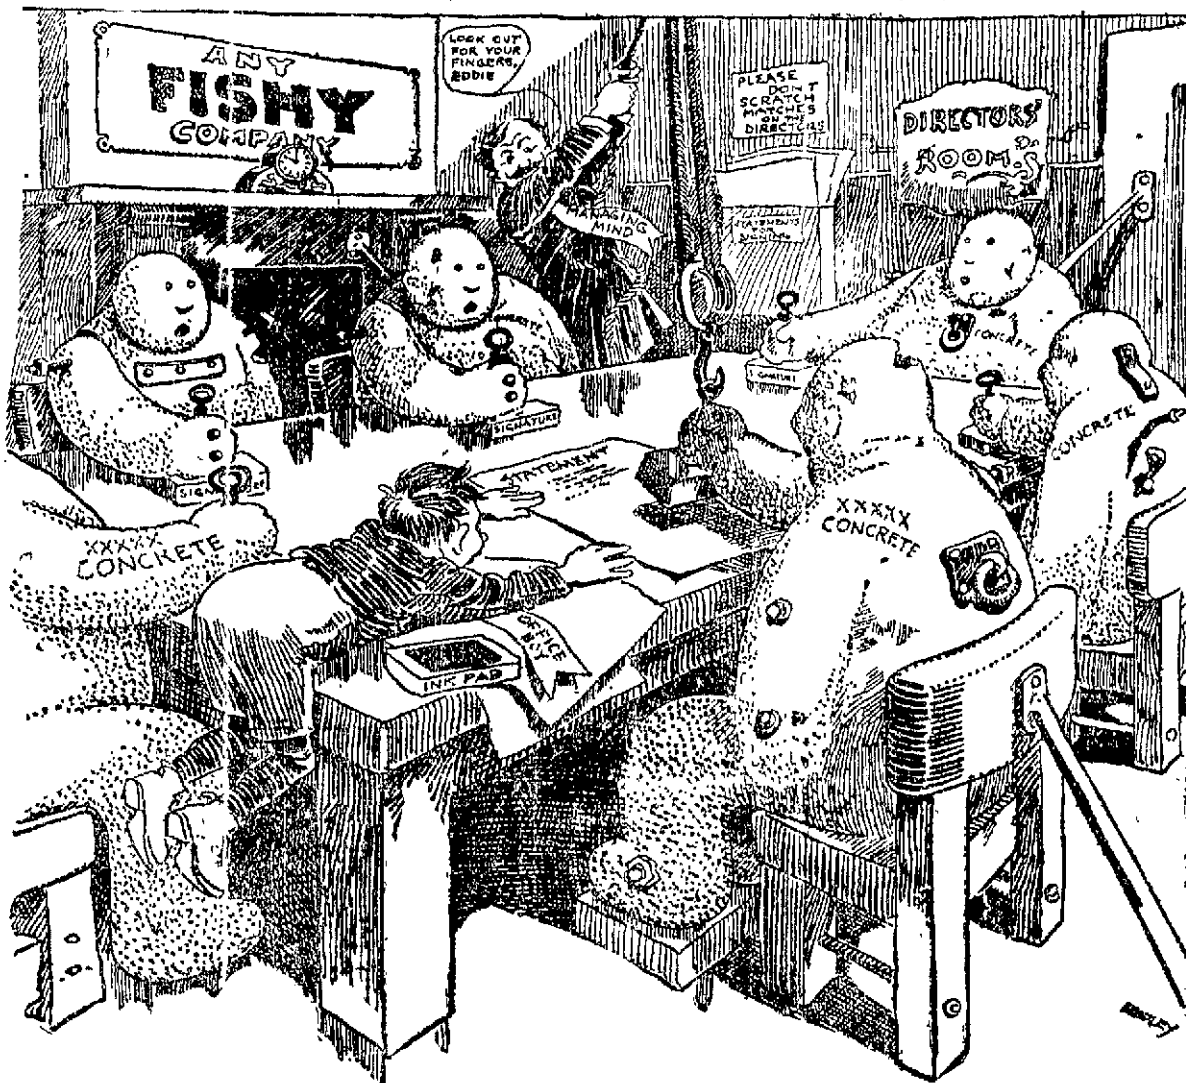

How many people are there in the States lying east of the Rocky mountains who know the fact that the orange crop in northern and central counties of the State ripens and begins to be marketed six weeks earlier than it does in any of the southern counties? But it is a fact which has been demonstrated conclusively every year for over two decades past, and, if it were only more generally known, the colonist tide would be turned in the direction of the northern part of the State, where, in most sections, the orange crop is produced without irrigation, an achievement which is impossible in the southern orange belt.

Rain Faker Hatfield's Dilemma.

On Thursday last the rain record at Stockton reached the 12-inch mark on which the payment of $3000 to Hatfield, the alleged rain maker, was dependent under the terms of the contract he holds with the San Joaquin county farmers. The interesting question the latter are now asking themselves is: Will Hatfield claim the money? The fact is that he will be required to prove that he has been the agent in producing the results shown in the rain record—a proof which it is contended he will be unable to furnish, as it is alleged that the succession of January and February rainstorms set in before he had time to erect his so-called rainmaking apparatus and that he has not had a chance to erect it since these storms began.

Under the circumstance Hatfield is standing between two fires with his contract. If he asserts that he produced the downpour which flooded a portion of the Sacramento valley and several of the islands in the San Joaquin river delta, the wrecking of railroad bridges, washouts of railroad tracks, interruptions to railroad traffic and the drowning of much livestock, causing damages amounting to millions of dollars, he will be face to face with a very grave proposition. If, on the other hand, he admits that his contract was a mere sham and a gamble on the working of the ordinary forces of nature, he will stand as a self-confessed faker and the San Joaquin county farmers will be warranted in repudiating the obligation which they assumed in signing the instrument he holds. If they do repudiate the contract, Hatfield will certainly never succeed in collecting the money, for appeal to the courts will be fruitless. If he brings suit, the court will require proof of his rainmaking powers or throw out his complaint on the ground that the contract was nothing more or less than a bet between him and its signers on the weather chances of the season, and that the law cannot be invoked to collect a bet.

SPEAKING OF CEMENT, WHY NOT HAVE CEMENT DIRECTORS?

THE KNAVE

as a monument to its incapacity and an insult to the taxpayers whose money is being effectively disbursed by the millions.

The non-constructive policy of the present local administration has brought that organization into contempt with the public and the indications are that this hybrid political machine, which, like the mule, is without pride of ancestry or hope of posterity, will have to give way to some regular and responsible party organization at the first opportunity the people have of giving expression to their views at the polls.

An almost unanimous opinion prevails that the present local administration, in so far as accomplishing beneficial results goes, is about the worst San Francisco ever had.

The lawyers of this city are almost unanimous in their endorsement of the declaration of George A. Knight that it is not the law that is at fault in the selecting of trial juries in San Francisco, but the judges and the District Attorney. All the other counties of the State are satisfied with the penal laws as they stand, for under them they secure good juries that return verdicts of "guilty" when the evidence warrants, and verdicts of "not guilty" when the defendant is not shown to be guilty as charged beyond a reasonable doubt.

Among the aspirants for the office of Mayor of San Francisco is James Rolph Jr., the Mission banker, real estate dealer and member of improvement clubs and other civic and commercial organizations.

The manager-in-chief of Rolph's fight is Senator Dick Welsh. In this connection Little Danny Ryan has again made his appearance in politics as assistant to Welsh. Among Welsh's associates in the Legislature there are some who are speculating as to whether the handling of Rolph's fight for Mayor will prove as profitable as did his championing of the Islais Creek basin scheme before the Legislature two years ago. Senator Dick is reputed to be a keen business man as well as a smooth and unctuous politician.

Matt I. Sullivan, lawyer and member of the League of Justice, is also contributing his effort to the choice of Rolph, Sullivan being reputed to have an ambition to possess a pocket Mayor. For these and other reasons there are some people in the Mission who are unable to see how "Little Jimmie" Rolph can lose.

The indications are that at least two candidates for Mayor will be members of the next Municipal Grand Jury. James Rolph Jr., the Mission business man and civic promoter, has already been chosen a member of the inquisition and Marshal Hale, the drygoods man, is in the panel which is to be returned next Tuesday. Their position as members of the Grand Jury will give the two mayoralty aspirants an unusual opportunity to present their municipal policies in practical form before going to the people for nomination by direct primary or convention, whichever may obtain in the next municipal campaign.

There is no really investment that attracts more general interest among real estate dealers and those who follow realty investments and property values than does what is popularly designated the "Phelan Building" on Market street. It is told in real estate circles that the former Mayor has secured two loans from the Equitable Life Assurance Society, one of $2,000,000 and another of $500,000, to erect the magnificent structure and monument to the name of "Phelan." It is estimated that when every store and office, both upstairs and downstairs, in the building shall have been rented the net income, after the payment of interest, taxes, insurance, lighting, power and cost of caring for the structure, including janitor and other necessary services, will be $6000 a month.

"How long will it take Phelan to pay off that $2,500,000 mortgage at the rate of $6000 a month?" is a question now absorbing the attention of the mathematicians among the real estate men. And the building must be rented to its full extent in order to return that $6000 a month, so the real estate experts say.

Wherever those interested in the "Sport of Kings" assemble nowadays they may be heard discussing, in a speculative way, what is to be done in relation to the measure passed by the Legislature closing the racetracks of this State. The expressions of opinion are varied, but the one that is most persistently whispered is that the managers of the racing interests will extend the season a day or two beyond the time limit in order that an arrest may be made and a test case quickly launched so that the legal merits, or demerits, of the Legislative measure may be determined at an early day.

THE KNAVE.

NOW FOR THE GIRLS

NEW CLASS FOR GIRLS FROM 10 TO 17

You May Enter for New Prize---One More Week on Extra Prizes

THE TRIBUNE is springing no effort to make this contest satisfactory to all. Every opportunity to reward the work they are doing is welcomed, and that work is made just as easy as encouragement and appreciation can make it.

Realizing the fact that the several little girls who have taken such an interest in the contest were at something of a disadvantage in working against the young ladies of most of whom have many friends to help them, THE TRIBUNE has decided to put them by themselves if they care to enter a new division.

New Class for Girls

A new class for girls between the ages of 10 and 17 is therefore declared. Any girl from any one of the three districts, or from any entering town in Alameda or Contra Costa counties will be welcome to enter it. Any girl already in the contest may change to this class by writing to the Contest Department of THE TRIBUNE and making known her desire. She will keep all votes already been awarded her, just the same in the new department. She will go right on; the only change will be that she will be working for a different prize.

New Nominations

Start With 500

All new nominations to this department will be welcome. But as could not be quite fair to ask them to run against candidates who already have some votes, a nomination to this department will carry with it 500 votes. Or any girl who has already been nominated in the contest and has not yet received 500 votes will be credited with 500 when she is changed to this department. It makes no difference in what district she may live, any girl may enter this class, provided only her age be between 10 and 17.

Prize a $50 Gold Watch

The prize will be a $50 gold watch. Almost every girl longs for a watch of her "very own" that she can wear, and wind, and keep under her pillow. THE TRIBUNE's watch is a beauty, a thoroughly standard make in handsome gold case upon which the winner's monogram will be cut. What a joy it would be to hold it in your hand and think, "This is the very first thing I ever earned, and it's something that I am going to keep, use, and enjoy all my life." How splendid that would be.

Change Not Compulsory

The change of class is, however, at the candidate's pleasure. There are several little girls in the nearest districts who are working earnestly for the piano, and they may continue if they prefer. No girl who has already entered this class, however, may enter this class, from others in the contest, are so far ahead that they may not be easily overtaken by some energetic little girl who will let her friends know how much she wants that watch and will get them to help her.

Any Girl May Enter

Any girl who wishes to enter may nominate herself by writing a letter to THE TRIBUNE and giving the name, address of her parents or guardian. Then she should call at THE TRIBUNE office and get a subscription book. Then she can get the watch if she wants it more than anybody else. It all depends on herself. None of the girls who are likely to enter this class, from others in the contest, are so far ahead that they may not be easily overtaken by some energetic little girl who will let her friends know how much she wants that watch and will get them to help her.

Today's Pictures

We are printing today the pictures of several girls who may enter this class if they wish. The first list in this class will, however, not appear until Tuesday, when THE TRIBUNE will have had a chance to hear from more of the girls who want a watch. Write a letter and tell the Contest Manager about it. Do it right away. There is plenty of time to win if you start at once. The girls in this class will be eligible for the $25 cash and $25 merchandise order to be given away next Saturday night, just as the young ladies are. So write your letter and get to work today.

Rainy Weather a Help

Many eager contestants mourned over the rain yesterday. A rainy Saturday is always a tragedy to the thou-

EXTRA PRIZES

This extra prize offer covers the period between Monday, February 15th, at 8 a. m. and Saturday, February 27th, at 11 p. m. and applies to all paid-in-advance subscriptions. All contestants entered prior to Saturday, February 12th, 12 m. are eligible.

SPECIAL PRIZE. Special prize to contest in any class securing largest amount of money on paid in advance subscriptions, cash $25.00.

hundreds of children who have been looking forward to it from Monday at 8 o'clock, to the busy house mother, who must get something into the house to eat on Sunday; to the young man or woman who has a Saturday half-holiday. But many days are really the best working time for contestants if they only realized it. The friend whom you walk ten blocks to see is sure to be at home, and to reward the effort you have made with a subscription. And Monday being a holiday offers a golden opportunity to contestants to see all their friends.

One More Week

There is just one more week for the special prizes. Put your best efforts in now. The last friend you see is the one who will take that five years' subscription that gets you the prize.

Classified Ads Help

An unusually liberal feature of this contest is the fact that votes are being issued with classified advertising. Five votes will be given for each five cents' worth up to $1 and from then on an ascending scale as follows:

100 votes for $1.00
150 votes for $1.50
225 votes for $2.00
300 votes for $2.50
400 votes for $3.00
500 votes for $3.50

All fractional parts over 100 cents amounts designated are figured at the rate of 5 votes for each 5 cents.

THE TRIBUNE has also tried to make the contest a little more interesting by placing classified advertising coupons, which are for Three Young Girls Who Are Eligible for the New Class in the Contest. At Left, Miss Alice Renwick; Upper Right, Miss Violet Chapman; Lower Right, Miss Elrene Sears.

Emma Goldman Talks With Betty Martin About "Love and Marriage"

LOVE She Says, Has No Need of the Law or the Church.
SELDOM LASTS THROUGH A LIFETIME

By BETTY MARTIN

THE institution of marriage has deteriorated the race. It has undermined the self-respect of both man and woman, and has brought dissension and discord into the home.

So declared Emma Goldman, the famous anarchist, during the course of a brief conversation on Friday afternoon last. To her the marriage ceremony counts for nothing.

"Love between a man and a woman concerns the two of them only."

"Love has no need of the law or the church."

Such in brief is her theory of that institution which is usually referred to as "the most sacred on earth."

But Emma Goldman was in earnest. And when I said, "You are going backward," having in mind Plato's Republic—she replied, "not backward, but forward." Yet it was that same philosopher who held much the same point of view as that expressed by Emma Goldman. Even in regard to the rearing of children her ideas do not differ materially from those set forth by Plato, who expressed the opinion that offspring should be a sort of community charge.

"Love," says Miss Goldman, "seldom lasts throughout a lifetime." She grants that there are exceptions; but—

"How many men are there," demanded she, "who remain faithful to their marriage vows? Not many! And it is when they begin to stray from home, basking in fresh fields, that misery for the wife begins," is her argument. "For let her so much as be suspected of an 'affair' and the lord and master feels outraged, whereas she must submit to such indignities as he sees fit to impose. And in very few States can the wife hope to obtain redress from any indignity—other than unfaithfulness—heaped upon her."

What She Says She Seems to Mean.

This condition of affairs Miss Goldman holds to be wrong. If she were to quote an old saw in support of her contention, it would be to the effect that "what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander." But I do not believe for one moment that Emma Goldman would descend to such a method of statement. There is nothing frivolous or theatrical about her. And therein lies the secret of her power. What Emma Goldman says, she means. And when she pleads for absolute equality of the sexes, she is speaking from an inmost conviction that this is the condition most needed to right many wrongs. About this woman there is nothing of the poseur. She is not handsome. In a crowd no one would pause to bestow upon her a second glance. Yet she is one of the most brilliant women of the day, and wonderfully fascinating.

"Not a Man, Not a Woman—A Personality."

According to a well-known San Franciscoan, Emma Goldman is "not a man, not a woman, but a personality." At a rough guess, she must be in the neighborhood of forty years of age, and under, rather than over, the average height. Bronze-haired, her blue eyes are large and fearless, despite a slight defect in the right one, which, I presume, accounts for her wearing glasses. Her nose denotes strength of character, and she has a way of measuring up strangers before taking them into her confidence. Her reputation as a public speaker is too well established to need comment. The diversity of her talents may be judged from her lectures. She is an authority on the drama, which she holds to be a greater agent in the forming of public opinion than novels, or, I presume, newspapers—though that is only a conjecture on my part, gained from stray remarks concerning this agency.

"Love and Marriage Her Lecture Theme."

On Sunday afternoon, in San Francisco, Miss Goldman gives a talk on the "drama," and, in the evening, here in Oakland, she will lecture on the interesting and absorbing topic of "Love and Marriage." And, on the 27th of this month, she will debate with Walter Thomas Mills on "Anarchy vs Socialism." Very convincing arguments in support of her theory concerning the modern institution will be presented. She does not object to a marriage ceremony, if it makes a man or woman "feel better" to have one performed, but, for her part, she claims that one is unnecessary.

Nor does she believe, as I said before, that love is apt to be constant. And when I objected that marriage, as now constituted under the law, was a protection to women, she asked, "How? In what manner does it protect?"

Then she made claim that woman could get very little redress in case of separation.

"Woman Gets Little Redress in Separations."

But, after all, her pet hobby is not so much the institution of marriage, as the attendant conditions. One of the convictions which she holds above all others, and in which most thinking people agree with her, is that women should be trained to be economically independent. Then, she declared, much unhappiness would be avoided.

"Women must be on terms of absolute equality with men," she stated, "then there would not be so much discontent and bickering."

Under the present system of education Emma Goldman claims that girls are reared with one object in view only—to get married.

It was upon these interesting topics that Emma Goldman talked in the brief half-hour of our interview, held in the big reception room of the old Reliance Club building—now known as "Rice's Institute." But first she verified Dr. Ben L. Reitman's statement that "Miss Goldman is not very fond of newspaper offices," by declaring, good naturedly, that:

"Police, Compared to Press, Are Angels."

"The police, compared to the Press, are angels." When I asked her more specifically concerning this preference, it transpired that Miss Goldman cherishes the idea, born, so she says, of many experiences, "that the press is given to tinging its statements with personal bias."

Having delivered these sentiments immediately upon introduction, Miss Goldman removed her hat, which was of a nondescript order, enveloped in a long brown veil, then, drawing her chair close to the center of the big room, took possession with a "Well?" which word I re-echoed, and she inquired:

"What's the talk to be about?"

"Love and Marriage," replied I quickly. "I want to know, in brief, what your views are on these subjects."

Is a Sociologist of No Mean Order.

"Begin with your questions," responded she, settling back in her chair with the air of one who had studied her subject matter well—for Emma Goldman is a sociologist of no mean order.

"I began life as a nurse," she told me, "and it gave me an opportunity to study people well. To know them from all sides—to learn what they thought about matters in general. And when it came to marriage, it was never a question of love, but always, 'can the man support a wife?'"

"In my opinion, a woman would be a fool to marry a man who couldn't support her," I retorted.

"That's not the way to regard it," came the swift reply. If the marriage is one of love, money ought not to enter into consideration.

"But suppose a man were to be worthless—unable to make money?"

"Then the wife, for love—ought to be able and willing to support him," replied this valiant lady, who certainly has shown her ability to take care of herself in all sorts of emergencies.

Received Her Training as a Nurse in New York.

Miss Goldman, as everybody knows, is Russian by birth, but "I came to New York when I was only seventeen years old, and received my training as a nurse in that city," she told me.

Her definition to my question, "What is Love?" is worth considering—a question which I never hear propounded without seeing and hearing, in my mind's eye, poor Charlie Reed and Fay Templeton dancing on the stage of the old California Theater, singing the while

"Love is a queer thing, it comes and it goes—" or that other:

"Oh, there's never a prison so tightly barred, but love will find a way—" Which is a digression for which I beg pardon, for Miss Goldman flashed her reply:

Love Makes Man or Woman Renounce Everything.

"I hold love to be that something which makes a man or a woman renounce everybody and everything for the one loved. That something, which makes a man of wealth and social position marry his typewriter—if you will, or a woman of social position and refinement leave her father's roof to go with a man, say, in his employ, maybe, in a menial capacity—perhaps the coachman, if you will."

"Your comparison's not fair," I interposed. "A typewriter must of necessity be educated—to an extent, at least. The business man might not have so much of a bridge to span. But when a refined young woman of wealth leaves home to go away with her father's coachman, or any one else engaged in a menial capacity, I'd not say that she was actuated by love."

I would call it a case of physical attraction."

Marriage Doesn't Change Men to Any Extent.

"You're wrong there," contended Miss Goldman. "It would be love, I hold that character is above everything. And I know that many men in menial positions possess fine characters. I know of many others—men of high positions, with mean, low characteristics. Marriage doesn't change men to any extent. If a woman marries a man of character who is uneducated, she can help him rise. Education can be acquired. But the other deficiency cannot be overcome. True, a wife can, and often does, hold her husband up, but the time comes sometime when he falls."

"The average American marriage is simply an economic arrangement," was the declaration, to which I objected:

"I don't agree with you. In my opinion, the average marriage is one of love. Marriages for economic reasons are more apt to be contracted among the very poor or among the very rich."

"Oh, but I know. I've studied the question," came the return with all the power of conviction, to which I was forced to yield, not knowing, from an authentic source, that whereof I speak.

The Training of Girls Is for Marriage Only.

"Let an American girl have ten suitors brought before her," exemplified Miss Goldman, "and she'll select for a husband the one who can support her best. The training of girls is for marriage only," she went on to say. "Their whole environment and edu-woman is described by her as "leading from the kitchen to the parlor, and from the parlor to the bedroom." Newspaper women, she avers, have more nearly entered upon a plane of equality with men than most of the sex. This, however, because of necessity.

Emma Goldman does not want any consideration of a special sort shown her because she is a woman. "That," says she, "is a matter of pure accident. I couldn't help being a woman. What I want shown me is consideration because I am an individual!"

All this, in brief, is what Emma Goldman will talk about when she discusses Love and Marriage. Her ideas are radically different from accepted beliefs. But in them is much to ponder upon.

EXPOSITION BOOSTERS DUE HERE ON MONDAY

On Monday, February 22d, at 2 p. m., a large number of representative citizens of Seattle and Tacoma will be present at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, Twelfth and Franklin streets, for the purpose of meeting citizens of Oakland and vicinity.

This excursion party comprises many officers of the Alaska-Yukon Exposition who are visiting California, for the purpose of educating the people what the Alaska-Yukon Exposition means, its size and importance to the Pacific Coast. The general public is invited to meet these visitors.

Mr. Clint G. Ford, who has been identified with the very foremost dramatic attractions, including Glavin's "Secret Service Co.," "David Harum," "The Circusman," etc. has this to say of Newbro's Herpicide:

"For years I was annoyed with dandruff and itching of the scalp, all due to my twenty years of theatrical life with its innumerable 'make-ups' and wig wearing. At times the itching of the scalp was intense. All remedies failed me until I tried Herpicide, and I soon found that it was giving wonderful results. The itching and also the dandruff entirely ceased and my hair resumed its natural life and vigor. There is no question in my mind about the reality of the dandruff germ, and I unhesitatingly recommend Herpicide to my friends in the profession." (Signed) CLINT G. FORD.

THEATRICAL FOLK USE AND RECOMMEND

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

Extravagant claims for toilet remedies do not influence theatrical people, because long experience enables them to discriminate intelligently. They demand merit and will rarely use a preparation that is not actually worth as much or more than it costs in dollars and cents.

Herpicide kills the dandruff germ and by actual use does more good than all other hair remedies combined. This accounts for its popularity in theatrical circles.

"Queen Rosalie" Writes of Newbro's Herpicide

"I take pleasure in announcing the very satisfactory results I have had from the use of Newbro's Herpicide. My hair was falling out so rapidly that I was afraid I would lose it all. A friend advised Herpicide, and after using it faithfully my hair stopped falling out, the dandruff disappeared and my hair is now very soft and glossy."

"I would like to see every lady of the profession try Herpicide, for I am confident that they would be delighted with it." (Signed) "QUEEN ROSALIE."

Send 10 cents in stamps to The Herpicide Company, Dept. 7, Detroit, Mich., for sample and booklet.

Two sizes: 50 cents and $1.00. At Drug Stores.

Tampering With Eyes

An expert experienced optician fits your eyes to their present comfort. He does more. He fits them with regard to the demands that the future will make on them, and prescribes glasses that will do much to preserve your sight.

An IN-expert, IN-experienced optician but tampers with your vision. You may be able to wear his glasses without present discomfort, but the future will thrust before you a frightful bill upon which spoiled eyes and a darkened old age will form principal items.

Some optical houses request you to ask for certain special men as knowing more than others they employ—to ask for their experts, to avoid their tamperers.

Here you are safer. We have no cheap men, no tamperers. We employ only those qualified by scientific knowledge and complete experience to prescribe well-fitting glasses for you.

SORORITY GIRLS CLEAR RIO BABA

Testimony of Pretty Students Save Their Japanese Cook From Prison

After being out from about the noon hour until 4 o'clock in the afternoon, yesterday, the jury which tried the case of grand larceny against Rio Baba, a Japanese, in Judge Brown's department of the Superior Court returned a verdict of not guilty, and, after thanking the twelve men for the efficient manner in which they had performed their duty, the Court dismissed them and discharged the prisoner from custody.

Rio Baba's case occupied the attention of the court for nearly two weeks, and it was notable for the sympathetic interest a heavy of Berkeley sorority girls showed in the Japanese. He is a cook, and was accused by his room-mate, Michi Kawa, a fellow-countryman, of stealing a certificate of deposit for about $150, said to belong to the latter.

Alleged Persecution

Rio Baba set up the special plea that his prosecution was the result of a conspiracy on the part of some of his countrymen to pit him out of the way, because he had a few dollars and dollars saved up for a rainy day and had refused to loan it out in various sums to his Japanese acquaintances. The accused man was employed as a cook in the home of a number of sorority girls in Berkeley, and these young ladies took a lively interest in his trial. They all appeared as witnesses for him and testified to his honesty and integrity. They said he was the best all-around Oriental they had ever known; that while employed at their home he had been faithful and attentive to their every want, and that had he possessed the traits of a thief he could have "feathered his nest" at almost any time, because the girls never thought of hiding their money and other valuables from him. So far as the jury knew, his honesty had never been impugned—and they seemed to know a whole lot about Rio Baba, who has the strong testimony of the pretty college girls to thank for his acquittal.

TELEGRAPH AVE. SAVINGS BANK

New Financial Institution on N. E. Corner 49th Street Nears Completion

Another addition has been made to Oakland's financial institutions, through the organization of the Telegraph Avenue Savings Bank, which is intended to accommodate the old Temescal district and the growing neighborhood adjacent to the car-house of the Oakland Traction Company on the south side of Temescal creek.

A snug and attractive building to house the institution is nearing completion at the northeast corner of Forty-ninth street and the avenue. It is equipped with a modern burglar, earthquake and fire-proof safe deposit vault. The entire vault is of reinforced concrete. The floor is forty-two inches thick in which a solid layer of walls is imbedded. The roof is sixteen inches thick with a layer of walls imbedded. The walls are sixteen inches thick with walls imbedded. The floor, ceiling, and walls of the vault are lined with Bessemer steel with an air space between for fire protection. The interior furnishings are of steel, thus making this vault burglar-proof, earthquake-proof and fire-proof.

The bank will start with a capital stock of $200,000. Following is a list of the officers and directors:

Officers—W. B. Thomas, president; Dr. Chas. A. Dukes, first vice-president; Joseph B. Bess, second vice-president; Harold Eberhart, secretary; A. Vander Nalton, Jr., cashier.
Directors—J. L. Basso, P. Casserly, E. Cunningham, John H. Dacia, E. H. Dutton, Dr. C. A. Dukes, Harold Eberhart, Dr. A. S. Kelly, P. McDonnell, Rev. Nelson Saunders, Walter E. Smith, J. W. Annis, W. B. Thomas, A. Vander Nalton, Jr., W. A. Walker.

BRIDGE MADE UNSAFE BY SACRAMENTO RIVER

REDDING, Feb. 20.—The railroad bridge across the Sacramento river at Tehama has been undermined by the current and has been condemned. The center pier was found to be weakened and sinking and the operation of the draw became impossible, while the structure was rendered unsafe for the passage of trains.

There is no fear of another flood at Tehama.

Tomorrow the Tehama bridge will be put out of commission for two or three days, during which the regular trains are concerned. False work for repair was installed today.

Our Store Will be Closed Monday--Washington's Birthday

This beautiful $5000, six room, plaster Bungalow is to be built upon a lot 50x103 ft. on Santa Ray Avenue in East Piedmont Heights and presented

FREE

To a customer of the John Breuner Co.

On the same plan that governed the one which we presented to Mrs. Fanny A. Daley of San Lorenzo last New Year's Eve.

We have eliminated all program, circular and bill board advertising, taken this money and purchased a lot 50x103 in East Piedmont Heights, upon which we will build the six-room Bungalow shown above. In the near future we will present this home absolutely free to one of our customers; for it's the best advertising that money can buy.

To a customer of the John Breuner Co.

On the same plan that governed the one which we presented to Mrs. Fanny A. Daley of San Lorenzo last New Year's Eve.

In the foreground of the picture above is the entrance—this porch is 7 feet 6 inches wide and 19 feet long; near the center pillar you will see the slab door which opens into a living room 15 feet wide and 22 feet long. The windows shown at the extreme left are the two bedrooms with bathroom between. Above the bathroom window is a mission belfry with miniature bell. The large chimney shown in foreground is for the livingroom fireplace. At the extreme right is shown a pergola porch 6 feet wide and 14 feet 6 inches long; it is reached through French windows from either the living-room or dining-room, and, being so high from the ground, it will make an excellent sleeping porch. From this porch one has an unobstructed view of Lake Merritt, Oakland and the Bay.

This elegant home may be yours if you are a Breuner customer.

DENIES FAILURE TO AID DAUGHTER

W. A. Dewey Declares He Has Also Helped Man for Whom Pardon Is Sought

ELMHURST, Feb. 20.—Many signatures have been attached to a petition which it is the intention of the residents of Elmhurst to forward to Governor Gillett, asking for the pardon of E. B. Dewey, who some time ago was sentenced to three months in the county jail on a charge of disturbing the peace in Berkeley while intoxicated. The petition recites that the wife, with her three children, are in destitute circumstances, one of the babies being but three weeks old, and that her husband is the main support of the wife and children.

Statements that have been sent broadcast that William A. Dewey, living near Michigan avenue and father of Mrs. Dewey, has refused her shelter and all have been flatly denied by Dewey. In a statement to THE TRIBUNE representative he said: "It is true that I have a son-in-law by the name of H. B. Dewey, but the stories that have been published in the papers that I have refused to help him are false. When he was stranded in the southern part of the State I sent him money so he could bring his family to Elmhurst. For three months I allowed him to remain in my house with his family, paying all his expenses while he was out looking for work."

POLICE RIDICULED BY SUFFRAGETTES

LONDON, Feb. 20.—The suffragettes have adopted a novel method for advertising the demonstration they are planning for February 24. Throughout the day a sombre looking vehicle supposed to represent a police van in which was a man in policeman's uniform was driven along the main streets. The wagon was decorated with the suffragette colors and escorted by a number of women carrying banners announcing that a deputation would assemble on the 24th and proceed to the House of Commons in an effort to see Premier Asquith.

The longest continuous run on a railway train in Europe is that from Paris to Constantinople, 1,921 miles in sixty-four and a half hours.

New Method of Reducing Fat

A news item from Paris informs us that the American method of producing a slim trim figure is meeting with astonishing success. This system which has made such a wonderful impression over lines must be the Marmole Prescription Tablet method of reducing fat. It is said to say that we have no better for this purpose in this country. Anything that will reduce the excess flesh, a pound a day without injury to the stomach, the causing of wrinkles, the help of exercising or dieting, or interference with one's meals is a mighty important and useful addition to civilization's necessities. Just such a catalogue of good results, however, follow the use of these pleasant, harmless and economical little fat reducers. We say economical, because Marmole's Prescription Tablets (made in accordance with the famous prescription) can be obtained of any druggist or the makers, the Marmole Co., Detroit, Mich., for seventy-five cents the large case, which is a decidedly economical price considering the number of tablets each case contains.
